BRITISH SINK NAZI STEAMER IN OUTBREAK OF NAVAL WAR

15 Ships Sent To Bottom

Germans Lose Liner Trapped In Danish Coast Region

SAILORS RESCUED

Many Vessels Of English, Neutral Nations Lost

LONDON, March 22 — Striking back at Germany for her aerial and submarine warfare against British and neutral shipping, a British submarine today sank the 4,947-ton German steamer Heddernein.

An official announcement said the British submersible intercepted the German craft eight miles off the Danish Coast. All members of the crew were reported safe.

Sinking of the Heddernein, believed to have been the first Nazi merchantman successfully torpedoed by a British submarine since outbreak of the war, indicated sharp intensification of Britain's hostilities on the seas.

To reach the spot off the Skaw where the Heddernein went down, the British submersible had to penetrate heavily mined waters and sweep through the entire Skaggerak and the northern reaches of the Kattegat, route of Germany's indispensable traffic in iron ore from Sweden.

British submarines in the past have attacked German naval vessels inside these waters, but the sinking of the Heddernein possibly indicated a new campaign to throttle trade in essential war materials.

At the same time, the toll of British and neutral victims of Germany's U-boats rose steadily. It was acknowledged that 15 vessels had been sunk or damaged within the last three days.

This afternoon, it was announced that the 3,270-ton Danish ship Christianborg and the 1,267-ton Norwegian vessel Svinta were torpedoed and that the 1,026-ton Danish Charkow was sunk off the east coast of Scotland, presumably by a mine.

A short time earlier, it was reported that the 1,650-ton Danish freighter Algier was torpedoed and sunk in the Atlantic yesterday with a loss of four lives, one of them an unidentified woman passenger.

An admiralty communique accusing Germany of attacking unarmed ships was issued after Nazi planes visited both the northern and southern ends of the British Isles on reconnoitering expeditions which caused no damage.

The admiralty denied Berlin claims that nine war and merchant ships had been sunk.

Trooper Acts as "Killer" And—

The Rev. C. R. Miller

Albert Santilli

Mrs. Santilli

TRAPPED through a state trooper's underworld disguise, a spiritualist minister and a tavern keeper's wife are held in Uniontown, Pa., jail for an alleged murder-for-insurance plot to dispose of the woman's husband, Albert Santilli. The accused are Mrs. Amelia Santilli, 31, and the Rev. Clayton R. Miller, 63. According to police, Miller arranged with a former convict to find someone to "take a man for a ride." Police were tipped off, and State Trooper W. J. Hayes was assigned to the task of "killing" Santilli. Hayes told his superiors that he was promised $2,500 for Santilli's death.

City Claim for Relief Fund Surplus Refuted By Auditor's Attaches

An inference voiced in Circleville council meeting Wednesday evening that the Pickaway County auditor's office has failed to credit the city with relief money received from various state tax funds earmarked for that purpose was refuted Friday by auditor's office attaches.

Councilmen and Solicitor J. W. Adkins, after hearing Delos H. Marcy, relief director, discuss the relief problem as a whole, engaged in a lengthy discussion Wednesday evening during which statements were made that money coming into the county each month should have been credited to the city's account and that a substantial surplus should exist at present in the city's favor. City officials said that they believed utility excise taxes and tax from beer, malt and admissions should have been divided into city and county funds in proportion to the amount paid into the state treasury from the various taxing units.

JAPS SUSPEND TERM IN PRISON FOR INS WRITER

TOKYO, March 22 — Two months and a day after his arrest, James R. Young, Tokyo manager of International News Service, was released from jail today on bail after receiving a suspended sentence of six months' imprisonment for violating the Japanese military code.

Young went immediately to his residence at the Imperial Hotel. He will remain free on bail pending decision by the procurator (district attorney) as to whether an appeal will be accepted.

In passing sentence, Judge Sanefira Hotta found extenuating circumstances in the fact that Young is an American citizen "and America is a country where great freedom of speech exists."

The indictment on which the correspondent was tried embraced thirteen points. He was imprisoned in Cell 13, and his arrest occurred during his thirteenth year of residence in Japan.

SHOW GIRL, 16, TO WED NORMA TALMADGE'S EX

NEW YORK, March 22 — Lois Andrews, one of New York's most popular show girls, and George Jessel, recently divorced by Norma Talmadge, announced early today in a New York night club that they'll soon be married. Miss Andrews, not quite 16, said her mother was planning in from Hollywood today to give her blessing to the union.

THREE MEN RAID INN, TAKE MONEY, JEWELS, CLOTHES

WARREN, March 22 — Armed with revolvers, three men early today held up the Evergreen Inn, two miles north of Warren, herded 23 persons, including eight women, into a basement and robbed them of $250 in cash and $100 worth of jewelry.

After tying their victims with clothes line the bandits leisurely ransacked the apartment of the inn proprietor, Eli Bonich, taking 13 suits of clothes, 15 dresses, a radio, cigarette machine and eight gallons of wine. On their way out they seized overcoats of the patrons.

Bonich said the bandits were in the place three hours.

PROPOSALS OF STATE TO HELP RELIEF HEARD

Auditor Says License Tag Revocation Might Be Of Some Help

COLUMBUS, March 22 — Suggestions advanced during a three-hour conference by the state welfare department for the elimination of any relief difficulties during 1940 were coldly received today by Pickaway County officials and Circleville Solicitor J. W. Adkins.

William Hartsough, state relief consultant, and auditors for the state welfare department advanced for consideration a program embodying three points that met with opposition from the county delegation. The points were:

- 1.—Issuance of delinquent tax bonds by the county to yield $19,063 for poor relief.
- 2.—Passage of a 1½ mill levy by the county, (requiring a 65 percent majority) at the May 14 primary.
- 3.—Expansion of the WPA program.

Although the conference was not attended by Circleville officials other than Adkins, the county delegation, headed by Forrest Short, county auditor, was reluctant to consider issuance of the tax bonds.

MRS. CALLAHAN'S QUINS WILL NOT EVEN BE TWINS

MIAMI, Fla., March 22 — Mrs. Emory Callahan, 22-year-old bride of eight months, philosophically accepted the news today that further x-ray examinations show that she will not bear quintuplets as it had earlier been believed.

In a statement issued over the signature of Publisher John S. Knight of the Miami Herald it was stated that evidence of only one embryo was visible by x-ray.

"Although a preliminary examination indicated that Mrs. Callahan might soon become the mother of quintuplets, x-ray plates taken Thursday at the direction of the Miami Herald reveal that nothing other than a normal birth is to be expected," the Miami Herald announcement stated.

The newspaper had offered to pay the cost of Mrs. Callahan's confinement when "it became evident that unless some directing agency stepped in, well meaning but naturally curious persons might cause great damage to her peace of mind," the statement continued, adding:

"In the interest of medical science and the ultimate welfare of the Callahan family... the cost of Mrs. Callahan's medical and hospital care will continue to be paid by the Herald just as though today's examination had supported the previous belief that she was to be the mother of quintuplets."

ALICE TO GET DECREE

LOS ANGELES, March 22 — Alice Faye today is slated to take the final step toward ending her "remote control" marriage to Singer Tony Martin. She is to appear before Superior Judge Thomas C. Gould for hearing of her divorce suit, filed recently.

CROMWELL SILENT ABOUT REBUKE BY CORDELL HULL

NEW YORK, March 22 — For the time being, James H. R. Cromwell, U. S. minister to Canada, kept his silence today concerning the stinging rebuke administered to him publicly by Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Cromwell and his wife, the former Doris Duke, flew from Canada to their home in Somerville, N. J., for the Easter week end.

At Cromwell's Fifth Avenue office in New York, a spokesman said:

"Mr. Cromwell has left town. Until he visits Washington he will not comment. He will probably go to Washington before next week."

INGALLS LINING UP TAFT DRIVE

Campaign Manager Claims Ohio 100 Percent For Favorite Son

CLEVELAND, March 22 — Persuaded of the Ohio "Taft for President" committee was announced today by David S. Ingalls, campaign manager for U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft, who said that Ohio's 52 delegates "will go to Philadelphia 100 percent behind the senator."

"Unanimous indorsement of Senator Taft for president by the 88 Republican County organizations is in line with Ohio Republicans' solid support of the senator for nomination at the Philadelphia national convention in June," Ingalls said.

Gov. John W. Bricker heads the committee's executive body, which also includes every member of the governor's cabinet and leading Republicans in every Ohio county.

Republican State Chairman Ed D. Schorr is an officer of the committee, together with all Republican state central committeemen and committeewomen. Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland and Congressman Dudley A. White of Norwalk, candidates for U. S. senator, also are on the executive committee.

Carmi A. Thompson of Cleveland is chairman; Ingalls is honorary chairman; Paul W. Walter of Cleveland, executive secretary; Mrs. Katherine Kennedy Brown, Dayton, Republican national committeewoman from Ohio, chairwoman; former Governor Myers Y. Cooper, treasurer.

In announcing that 88 county Republican committees throughout the state have unanimously indorsed (Continued on Page Four)

CONGRESS TOLD OF DANGERS IN MORE SPENDING

WASHINGTON, March 22 — The Roosevelt administration sent two sharp economy warnings to congress today, as the senate prepared to pass the $1,000,000,000 farm bill.

The warnings were sent in the form of two letters, one from Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, the other from the general accounting office, to Senator Harry Byrd (D) Virginia, one of the leading economy advocates on Capitol Hill.

These two letters notified Democratic leaders, who voted for $212,000,000 of parity payments and $85,000,000 of commodity surplus disposal funds in the farm bill, that the money cannot be taken from the treasury general fund to carry this load. The house refused to provide these funds. Both Senate Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky and Senator Byrnes of South Carolina, an active administration lieutenant, suggested on the senate floor that the money be taken from the general fund.

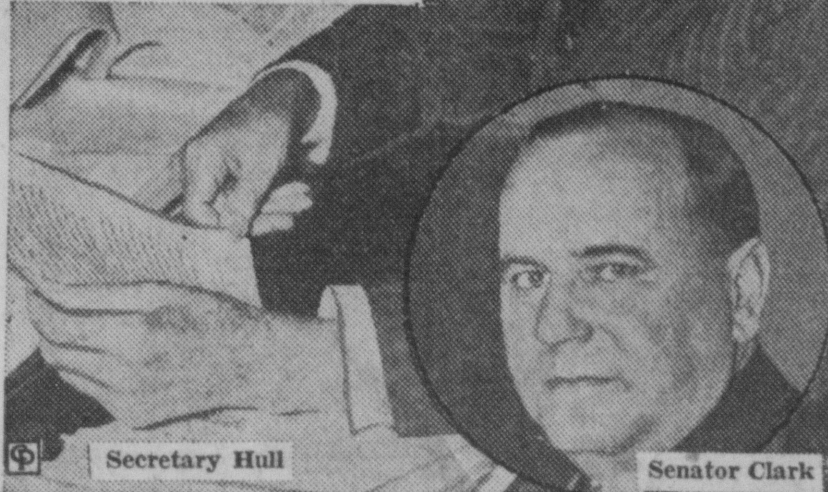

Cromwell Speech Draws Fire

Minister Cromwell

Senator Clark

Secretary Hull

SPEECH made in Toronto by James H. R. Cromwell, recently named United States minister to Canada, draws the fire of Senator Bennett Champ Clark (D) of Missouri and results in an order from United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull for Cromwell to give him an official copy of the text. Cromwell's speech criticized totalitarian governments and voiced strong support for the Allies. Clark asked recall of Cromwell as minister. Cromwell is the husband of Doris Duke Cromwell, the tobacco heiress, and only recently assumed his post in Ottawa.

Total of Bodies Found In Mine Climbs to 37

NEFFS, O., March 22 — As weary rescue crews struggled through tons of debris to reach the bodies of 35 miners still entombed, a congressional subcommittee today was to make a formal inquiry into the blast that ripped through the Willow Grove mine and claimed the lives of 72 men.

Eight more bodies were brought up during the night, bringing the total number recovered since last Saturday to 37.

Meanwhile, mine officials denied emphatically charges contained in mysteriously circulated handbills, that the blast was caused by coal dust in digging rooms which had not been rock-dusted.

Members of the congressional committee on mines and mining were to inspect the wrecked section of the mine. Following the tour, Congressman Bradley (R-Michigan) said he would meet in formal session with Representatives Winter (R-Kansas), Cravens (D-Arkansas), and Peterson (D-Florida) to draft a report.

While they will attempt to discover the cause of the blast, Bradley said their main purpose would be to determine if passage of a proposed federal mine inspection bill would prevent similar disasters in the future.

Four members of the Ohio Senate mine committee were to assist the group. They were Tom W. Jones, Middleport; Roy N. Merryman, Steubenville; Walter G. Nickels, New Philadelphia and Roy Palmer, Barnesville, all Republicans.

The explosion claimed the life of a third rescuer yesterday with the death in Belleire Hospital of Paul Taylor, 29, St. Clairsville. Taylor was gassed when he attempted to enter the pit immediately after the blast. The two others who died were Mine Supt. John Richards and Howard Sanders, tippie foreman, who were with Taylor at the time.

In Columbus, Will T. Blake, chairman of the state industrial commission, said the commission had approved maximum benefits of $6,700 each to widows of Richards and Sanders. Other claims will be rushed through, Blake stated, and total payments will reach $400,000.

DEPUTIES HEAR NEW MINISTER SCORE FUEHRER

Soviet Russians Linked With Germany By Paul Reynaud, Premier

"TREASON" IS CHARGED

Two Statements Bring Mild Cheers From Right Area Of Chamber

PARIS, March 22 — In a declaration as brief as it was forceful, Premier Paul Reynaud went before the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon with a pledge that France will fight "total war" until the "genius of destruction" guiding Nazi Germany is totally wiped out.

The new chief of state presented his 22-man war cabinet to the chamber, asked for parliamentary cooperation and gave the country all that it desired in a promise to wage determined warfare to the finish.

Significantly, he linked Soviet Russia with his indictment of Germany.

"France is engaged in total war," he said in his 250-word speech.

"Our powerful enemy has transformed and concentrated all its human activities into means of making war."

"Aided by Soviet treason, it has carried the fight forward and combined with its military strength a sort of genius of destruction, whose potency we can overlook no more than we can its hatefulness."

"By the same token, the stake of this 'guerre totale' is a 'stake totale' (implying that the issue is to win all or to lose everything.)

"Lose and Lose All"

"For us to win is to save all that we have. To lose is to lose all that we have."

"By its expression of national sentiment, parliament has measured the full extent of these terrible realities."

"Thus this government has no other reason for being than this: to assemble and direct all French energies to fight and win, and to crush treason from any source."

Reynaud received no applause when he went to the tribune, but (Continued on Page Four)

COPENHAGEN — A Moscow radio broadcast launched a violent attack today against "reactionary parties in Sweden" which were accused of aiming at an "anti-Russian defense union" among Sweden, Finland and Norway. The Russian broadcaster expressed doubt, however, whether Finland would be drawn into such a combination or would "prefer to obtain favors by living at peace with her great neighbor" — meaning the Soviet Union.

LONDON — A grim warning that Britain and Germany are still only "sparring" in the air and that German cities will be bombed if German planes bomb British centers was placed before the British public today by Britain's Vice Air Marshal, Ernest Leslie Gossage.

BERLIN — Sarcasmic comments on the new French government headed by Premier Paul Reynaud appeared in German newspapers today, along with threats that the war will follow a course "still not imagined in London or Paris."

ARTHUR MILLER, NATIVE OF CITY, IS DEAD AT 67

Arthur Thurman Miller, 67, fireman at the county courthouse for the last 38 years, died Friday at 1:15 a. m. at his home, 123 North Scioto Street, after illness of a week. Mr. Miller suffered from chronic Bright's disease.

He was a native of Circleville, born April 5, 1872, a son of William H. and Elizabeth Ann Snyder Miller. He married Lucinda Shoemaker, September 17, 1899. Mrs. Miller and two children, Thurman I. Miller and Mrs. Margaret R. Moore, surviving in addition to the following brothers and sisters, Edson Miller, Mrs. Andrew Roundhouse and Miss Mayme Miller, of Circleville; Fred Miller and Mrs. Fannie Wade of Chillicothe; and Amos Wilson of Columbus, and one grandchild, Mary Lou Moore. The funeral will be Monday at 10:30 a. m. at the Mader Service chapel, the Rev. G. L. Troutman officiating with burial in Hillside-Ludwig Cemetery. Friends may call at the Mader Chapel after 5 p. m. Saturday.

PRESIDENT SEEKS WHEAT FOR STARVING CHINESE

WASHINGTON, March 22 — President Roosevelt today transmitted to the Red Cross an urgent appeal for a gift of cracked wheat to meet a "desperate food shortage" in China.

At the President's direction, White House Secretary Stephen J. Early requested Red Cross Chairman Norman Davis to give the appeal immediate consideration.

FLOOD CONTROL WORK URGED BY DISTRICT BOARD

Reservoirs On Darby And Deer Creek On List
For Authorization

MUCH MONEY IS SOUGHT

Plan Put Before Committee Of House For Action
In Next Year

A flood defense program that would include much work in the Scioto River Valley has been put before the House flood control committee in Washington, D. C. with supporters of the program asking that some of the work be done this year.

Under the program dams would be constructed on Deer and Darby Creeks in Pickaway County for conservation of water and prevention of floods. A total of four reservoirs at cost of $13,000,000 would be constructed on the Scioto River in addition to one at Delaware already authorized.

Army engineers would also be asked to consider changing the channel of the Scioto north of Chillicothe to provide better protection for the Ross County seat. The plan, proposed by the Ohio Valley Flood Control and Conservation League, would cost many millions.

Other projects in the $60,000,000 program for 1940 and their estimated costs were Burnsville, W. Va., reservoir, $2,748,000; Summerville, W. Va., reservoir, $14,900,000; Sutton, W. Va., reservoir, $12,676,000; Fish Trap, Ky., reservoir, $5,890,000, and East Fork, O., reservoir, $4,450,000.

Local works would be authorized for Huntington, W. Va.; Point Pleasant, W. Va.; Russell, Ky.; Wilder, Ky.; Uniontown, Ky.; Cleves, Ohio; Adams, Ind.; Clinton, Ind.; Russell, Ill.; and Allison, Ill.

The league also presented a list of projects included in the $165,000,000 program but not proposed for authorization this year. In this list were projects at Shenango, Pa.; Dale Hollow, Tenn.; Cave Run, Ky.; Falmouth, Ky.; Wolf Creek, Ky.; Jaramine Creek, Ky.; Rough River, Ky.; West Fork, Little Kanawha, W. Va.; Ashland, Ky.; Wellsburg, W. Va.; Manchester, O.; New Martinsville, W. Va.; Augusta, Ky.; Vanceburg, Ky.; West Bridgewater, Pa., and Cole Grove, O.

Chairman Whittington, Democrat, Mississippi, has said the committee's 1940 authorization bill for the whole country would not propose an expenditure of more than $175,000,000, and even this would conflict with the wishes of President Roosevelt, who suggested that Congress refrain from making new authorizations.

Representative Elston, Republican, Ohio, urged the committee to consider his proposal to authorize local interests to advance money for their projects subject

ASHVILLE By S. D. Fridley Ashville, Phone 79

The prospects for getting the local creamery back into full operation again are getting brighter each day. The cream collecting truck, according to plans now, will be making neighborhood calls to the farm homes beginning with the coming week.

Ashville—Sterley Foreman, brother of our L. B. Foreman, and located on what is known as the Barcus land up on 23, has purchased what is known as the Squires dwelling home on West Main Street. According to a statement given us, Mr. Foreman the new owner, will not occupy the property himself, at least for some little while. A Zanesville party who desires to locate here, made an effort to either rent or purchase Mr. Foreman's new buy but we have not been able to contact either of them for a statement.

Ashville—Met Henry Gloyd and knowing that he is a combination carpenter and painter, knew it was a good time and place to get a line of news along his work. Said he is the "big boy", superintendent and everything about the completing of the new North Long Street church now shaping up toward completion within the next few weeks if weather is favorable for work. Told us, too, that work prospects were never better and thinks he has enough jobs now contracted to last through the work season. The son, he said, who usually works with them, has employment on county or state work as a farm builder.

Ashville—Monroe Boyer, a part of the everyday works around here years ago, got in the road of "the third" up at the postoffice and in answer to our questions, let us know that he is plenty busy now straighten-

ing and cleaning up his dwelling property he recently purchased here—even tearing down the barn. Said, too, that he scarcely knew Ashville anymore, things having changed so much. And recalled that how he used to drive a team of good horses to a fine buggy canvassing all over this territory selling farm implements and buggies for Jonathan Brinker located then at Brinker's Corner and 42 years ago, the time this was all happening, he said.

Ashville—The fire alarm siren sounded Thursday afternoon as a tryout signal, one long blast denoting that the fire is on the East side and two for a West side blaze. But the amusing part of it, many did not know the blasts were "phony" ones and immediately put themselves "in action full steam ahead"—with no fire to go to. The N. & W. railroad serves as the dividing line between East and West sides in the siren blasts.

Ashville—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coon of Washington D. C. called on their cousin Anna Fridley Thursday afternoon.

DRIVER OF AUTO FATAL TO MAN, WIFE PAROLED

Beeman Leasure Wins His Freedom March 1, 1941, From Ohio Farm

1938 TRAGEDY RECALLED

Brother To Be Turned Out At Same Time In Theft Of Automobile

Beeman Leasure of Ross County, whose reckless operation of an automobile killed Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Crawford of the Whisler community May 7, 1938, will be released on parole from the London prison farm of the Ohio State penitentiary March 1, 1941. He has been serving a term of one to 20 years for second degree manslaughter.

Leasure was arrested after the wreck which happened on Route 56 southeast of Circleville. The Crawfords with other members of their family were returning home when the car driven by Leasure crashed into their vehicle. Sheriff's deputies charged that Leasure was intoxicated. Several of his brothers riding with him were sent to the county jail on intoxication charges.

Only one of two indictments returned against Leasure were pressed against him, one being nolle in exchange for a plea of guilty to the other.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford were returning to their home after attending the Northwest Territory celebration in Circleville when the tragedy happened.

At the same time that Beeman Leasure is freed, Denver Leasure, a brother, will be released on parole from the same institution. He has been serving time for operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

Seventy-four prison farm convicts were paroled Thursday in a session of the State Parole and Pardon Commission.

OLIVER BOY CITED

Charges of petit larceny were lodged against Harry Oliver, 16, South Scioto Street, after he was caught allegedly stealing a bicycle at 5:30 p. m. Thursday. A hearing has not been scheduled, but it is expected that he will face Mayor William Cady in the mayor's court Friday or be turned over to juvenile authorities.

U. S. VOLUNTEERS

FOR SERVICE IN FRANCE TO SAIL
NEW YORK, March 22 — The first contingent of American volunteer ambulance drivers for service in France will depart tomorrow on the liner Manhattan, it was disclosed today by the American field service in France.

This organization, revived by Americans who drove ambulances for the Allies in the World War, has opened branches in 20 American cities and is recruiting volunteers.

GARBAGE CANS CHANGED

CHILLICOTHE, March 22 — Spring and summer zephyrs will be gentle on the sensitive noses of the Chillicothe citizenry for the old fashioned open-top trucks trucks are to be replaced by a new streamlined model of enlarged capacity. The purchase of a two-ton truck from the Hummel Motor Company for $2,780 was authorized Friday by the Board of Control.

ILLINOIS' MOVE TO DIVERT LAKE WATER OPPOSED

COLUMBUS, March 22 — Ohio will join other eastern and mid-western states in opposing the application of the state of Illinois for permission to divert an additional 5,000 feet of water per second from Lake Michigan before the United States Supreme Court Monday.

This was disclosed today when aides of Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert said he left for Washington last night to prepare for the hearing before the high tribunal.

Herbert's Chief Counsel, E. G. Schuessler, said the Ohio attorney general would join representatives from other states in presenting arguments before the high tribunal against the proposed increased diversion.

In a brief prepared before he left, Herbert contended that Illinois does not need the water and that, with proper and efficient operation, raw sewage in the Illinois River could be handled with existing sewage treatment plants.

Herbert also contends that increased diversion would be harmful to commerce at Cleveland, Lorain and other points along Erie and other Great Lakes.

Ohio and other states instituted an action in 1926 against Illinois and the Chicago sanitary district because the tremendous diversion of water from the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence area was affecting harbor facilities adversely.

In 1930, the Supreme Court issued a decree gradually scaling down the amount of water diversion to a minimum of 1500 cubic feet per second as of December 31, 1938. That is the present rate.

Illinois contends 5,000 cubic feet per second additional are necessary to proper disposal of sewage, pending completion of the sewage treatment system, or until December 31, 1942.

EUROPEAN WAR FAILS TO HELP OHIO FARMERS

Industrial Exports Soar, But Agricultural Goods Shows Decline

Wheat Quotations In U. S. Ahead Of World Market, Economists Show

COLUMBUS, March 22—Four months of war in Europe has resulted in increased exports of industrial products and decreased exports of agricultural products from the United States. United States wheat prices are far above world prices so there is little probability of an increased export trade in wheat.

Indicators used to check trends in business continued to show declines in February that began in January. Some forecasters, however, are expecting an upturn to come earlier than the mid-season rise previously predicted.

Members of the agricultural economics department at Ohio State University say Ohio farm prices in February stood at 94 percent of the average for 1910-14. Increases in prices for eggs helped to offset declines in prices paid for beef cattle and veal calves.

Ohio soybean prices dropped from $1.05 in January to 96 cents in February but were still well above the 70 cent price level which farmers obtained in February, 1939. The demand for soybean cake and meal appears to be considerably greater than a year ago.

Total sales on 10 leading tobacco markets in Kentucky were $11,000,000 during the season just ended at an average price of $18.36 a hundred pounds. This compared with sales of $179,000,000 pounds at $20.43 a hundred in 1938-39. A marketing quota for the 1940 crop was approved by 83 percent of the growers affected.

Ohio farm prices for potatoes increased as usual during February. Farm marketing in the state did not increase the usual amount for the month. Cold weather in Florida reduced crop prospects there by 650,000 bushels and this will shorten the early crop moving to market until about the middle of April.

the deputies cheered him on two occasions—first on his reference to Soviet "treason" and again when he pledged complete coordination of the nation's war activities.

At the conclusion, there was mild applause, although the entire right remained silent. Members of the Radical Socialist Party had indicated they would abstain from the initial vote of confidence, making immediate downfall of the cabinet likely, but later information said they had reconsidered their decision.

Reynaud read the declaration to his so-called "victory" cabinet a short while before going to the chamber to ask immediate parliamentary approval of his ministerial selections and war aims.

While Reynaud addressed the chamber, Vice Premier Camille Chautemps read the same statement to the senate.

Observers pointed out that the new government replaced the Daladier regime because the nation demanded more forceful foreign and war policies. Judging from reports flooding into Paris concerning imminent developments in the Balkans and relations among Germany, Russia and Italy, it is possible that Reynaud may face a stern test in the near future.

New Accord Near?

Today Paris newspapers splash reports that a Rome-Berlin-Moscow accord is near and that the dictators are planning to divide the Balkans into "zones of influence and exploitation."

The Paris Soir said that Chancellor Hitler, Premier Mussolini and Dictator Josef Stalin will hold a personal meeting near Lvov in former Poland by the end of April at the latest.

Pertinax, famous French commentator, hinted that Italy is about to pass into a new position in relation to the war. To date, Italy has maintained an attitude which Premier Mussolini has described as "non-belligerency."

Reynaud holds the foreign affairs portfolio as well as the premiership while former Premier Edouard Daladier, who resigned Wednesday, took over the post of war minister.

Establishment of the new French government, along with anticipated cabinet changes in Britain, brought predictions of an active war drive by the Anglo-French Allies designed to take the military initiative away from the Reich.

It was considered significant that French newspapers greeted the new cabinet with warnings of a new German-Soviet "menace" against Rumania and Yugoslavia. Two "innovations" announced by Reynaud were formation of an "inter-ministerial economic council" and an inner war cabinet composed of the premier, vice-premier, and ministers of war, navy, air, finance and colonies.

EASTER PARADE FEATURE TO BE COLD WEATHER

COLUMBUS, March 22 — Easter paraders will receive little cooperation from the weatherman Sunday.

Present indications point to low temperatures which will make winter overcoats more comfortable than new spring clothes Easter Sunday.

After a slight rise tomorrow, the mercury was expected to decline again Saturday night. The official forecast for Sunday and Monday was "continued cold."

In Central Ohio the low temperatures last night was 22 degrees and it was only slightly warmer at mid-day. The area from Philadelphia eastward through New England was blanketed by snow with fair and cold weather predicted for Easter. There was a one-inch snowfall in New York.

TWO GO TO JAIL

Earl Hussey, 29, Watt Street, and Clarke Rice, 50, Athens, were remanded to the county jail Friday when they failed to pay the fines of $15 and costs for drunk and disorderly conduct which were handed down by Mayor William Cady. Both men were arrested Thursday night by Patrolmen Carl Radcliff and Charles Mumaw.

In Style for the Easter Parade

THIS hat-glove combination may be seen in the Easter parade of fashion. Designed by John-Fredericks, the milliners, the hat is a stylized clown cap of golden yellow tulle, draped with a golden veil, sprinkled with gold and multi-colored felt confetti dots.

INGALLS LINING CITY'S RELIEF UP TAFT DRIVE CLAIM REFUTED

broken down with city and county shares designated. If most of the relief dispensed by Marcy's office is in rural areas, the city is given credit for any surplus that might prevail in its share of the money. If the city relief load is heavier, Circleville is billed for the difference between the amount of tax money received earmarked for it and the actual amount expended during the month, Marcy said. At present a bill for $2,020.47 is in city hands for its share of January relief expense.

It was this bill that sent councilmen in search of money they believed credited to the city, but which county officials say does not exist.

"After all," a county official said, "there have been 81 relief laws passed since 1930, some of them being in operation for three months or less. It is possible that some money has come in the county that should have been tagged for the city, but if there has been an error made no examiners have ever detected it so all of it must have been put in the proper accounts."

Relief funds have been handled under specifications of the following state laws: (prior to July 1, 1939) Section 5491, Ohio General Code, and (since July 1, 1939), 3391-1, Ohio General Code.

CHIEF AND MAYOR WARN CYCLISTS AND AUTOISTS

Police Chief William McCrady, Friday, issued a warning to all bicycle owners to have their tags for 1940 on their bicycles by April 1. Tag sales are lagging far behind last year when 600 tags were sold. Only 104 have been purchased to date.

Mayor William Cady took a similar step when he issued a warning to motorists to have their 1940 automobile licenses by April 1. The Mayor reminded the drivers that failure to have new tags by that date will be punishable by a $25 fine.

The world moves on—but judging by the news from Europe the direction is strictly down hill.

Trees can be protected by applying tree tanglefoot in narrow bands around the trunks. The tanglefoot can be applied with a paddle directly to the bark. Moths attempting to climb are trapped and perish. Orchard and seed supply stores usually have the tree tanglefoot for sale.

The cost of protecting a tree is only a few cents and the results may be worth many dollars. Trees stripped by cankerworms are not killed outright but are weakened so drought or disease may complete the ruin started by the insects.

chant ships were sunk in Wednesday's raid on a British convoy.

Convoy Claims Differ

A communique said the convoy "A" consisted almost entirely of neutrals was not dispersed and is proceeding safely on its voyage." Not one of the convoyed ships went down, the statement said, and one of the attacking German planes was "destroyed" and others were hit by British defense planes and anti-aircraft gunners.

In addition to the Alger, four unconvoyed Scandinavian ships were damaged by German air bombs and a fifth was torpedoed by a German submarine, the admiralty stated, adding:

"Nazi wrath thus is vented almost entirely on neutrals who, since they are unarmed, are peculiarly tempting to Nazi prowess outside of a convoy."

Altogether 12 merchant ships, including four British and seven Scandinavian, were sunk or damaged Wednesday and Thursday by German bombs or torpedoes. More than 65 lives were estimated lost.

BERLIN, March 22 — No less than 32,694 tons of enemy and neutral merchant shipping have been sunk during the last three days, the German high command asserted in a war communique today.

"There were no particular events on the Western Front," the war bulletin said.

"Despite adverse weather the German air force reconnoitered the northern part of the North Sea."

WOMAN OFFERS TO GIVE BLOOD TO HELP YOUTH

CHICAGO, March 22 — Mrs. Rose McMullen, of Washington, D. C., was in Chicago today to give her blood in an effort to save Sheldon Bellafsky, 12-year-old victim of a rare disease in whose behalf a national appeal for donors was made.

The boy, meanwhile, has grown weaker. Although his temperature, which at one time reached 109.4, was down to 102.6, his resistance appeared enfeebled, and physicians feared an infection had developed in his lungs.

Mrs. McMullen's offer of blood differed from others, received from all parts of the country, in that she did not claim to have suffered from the same rare disease—staphylococcus aureus septicaemia. She said:

"In 1935 my niece, Rose Marie Ryan, became ill of the disease in Philadelphia. I asked the doctors to inoculate me with a culture of her blood. In this way, I developed an immunity and was able to give my niece 17 transfusions."

"Since then, I have given about eight quarts of blood to sufferers from this disease."

A detailed bacteriological analysis was arranged to determine whether her blood might help the boy.

You can always identify a neutral European country. It always receives a nicely-worded apology when one of its ships is blown up.

Paul, and it fails to make sense," Short declared.

The 1½ mill levy proposal met with even greater pessimism.

"We're a rural county," Wright declared. "Our voters will not pass any additional tax levies."

The expansion of the WPA program, to be brought about by the use of $17,602 in motor vehicle registrations as the county's share of an $88,013 road program, was frowned on as uneeded during the summer months.

During the growing months, the commissioners declared, the need of work is met by a demand for farm labor.

The conference broke up with no action being decided on, although Hartsough said he would prepare a new set of figures for submission to the city and county.

In common with the rest of the delegation, however, he said he could see no chance of passage. Auditor Short suggested that a decree to have persons on relief surrender their automobile license tags before they could receive orders, declaring that this would cut the relief load considerably.

Relief Director Marcy stated that he was opposed to such a move.

Others who attended the meeting were Prosecuting Attorney George Gerhardt and Representative William D. Radcliff, who said he dropped in "to see how things were coming out."

Hi School Cage Meet Sets New Mark Of 30,237

Finalists Receive $280 Each In Addition To All Expenses; Amanda Given $140

By Russell Fuller

COLUMBUS, March 22—A new attendance mark of 30,237 and the awarding of bonuses totaling $4,200 to the 32 teams competing in the state high school basketball tournament were announced today by H. R. Townsend, high school athletic commissioner.

The total attendance fell under unofficial estimates but still topped the 30,036 mark set in 1938 when Newark won the Class A crown and attracted thousands of Central Ohioans to the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Top bonus melons of $280 apiece, $70 a round, went to the four teams fortunate enough to reach the final rounds in the A and B classifications. They were New Philadelphia and New Carlisle, A and B titlists, and Canton McKinley and Canfield, runnersup.

Other monetary bonuses were: Class A—Massillon and Dayton Fairview, $210; Akron Buchtel, Cincinnati Woodward, Findlay and Akron South, $140; Bellefontaine, Defiance, Marietta, Martins Ferry, Canton Lehman, Toledo Waite, Columbus Central and Bellevue, $70. Class B—Smithfield and Glenford, $210; Willshire, Amanda, Midvale and Holgate, $140; Marysville, Waynesburg, Germantown, Bluffton, Rittman, Sandusky St. Marys, Hanover and Kitts Hill, $70.

Total receipts for the 1940 tournament were $16,016.50, just three dollars more than in 1938, generally regarded as a banner year in every respect.

Team expenses amounted to $5,261 against $4,987 last year and $4,862 in 1938. Tournament expense this year totaled $3,528 compared to $3,775 in 1939 and $3,384 in 1938. The $70 a round bonuses were $30 more than last year but $5 less than the $75 paid in 1938.

The handsome trophies cost $965.03. The 352 individual trophies cost $677.99, the four team trophies $152.44 and 20 gold and 20 sterling silver basketballs $134.60.

The largest attendance at any one session was at the Saturday night finals when 7,876 cash customers passed through the turnstiles. On Saturday afternoon during the semifinals, 7,381 persons plunked down paid admissions.

It cost $190 to keep uniformed policemen on duty throughout the tournament and $711.05 for ticket sellers, doormen and dressing room attendants. The eight referees and umpires were paid a total of $501 and the timers and scorers $110.

Gate receipts for paid admissions totaled $16,016.50. Concessions and program advertising brought in another $900.86.

CUBANS HOP ON VANDY, BIG PAUL TO WIN 11 TO 7

HAVANA, Cuba, March 22—The Cincinnati Reds rested today after absorbing an 11-7 drubbing at the hands of the Cuban All-Stars. Alejandro Crespo lifted one of Vander Meer's slants over the fence with the bases loaded in the sixth, while Derringer was hopped on hard in the fourth and fifth. Final game of the Cuban series is slated for tomorrow.

BEN HOGAN SETS NEW RECORD TO COP GOLF GOLD

PINEHURST, N. C., March 22—Two new records and his first major championship today were chalked up to the credit of Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y., who yesterday won the North-South Open golf championship with a 72-hole score of 277.

Hogan's score shaved two strokes from the tournament record, 279, set by Vic Ghezzi, and his 66-67-133 for the first 36 holes set a new P.G.A. competitive record. He never before had won a major title.

Although he started the last two rounds with a long lead, Hogan slipped somewhat yesterday to card a 74 and 70. Sam Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., finished second with a total of 280.

Byron Nelson, National Open champion, was third with 286; Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill., was fourth with 287, and Gene Sarazen and Jug McSpaden tied for fifth with 288's. Hogan was awarded $1,000 first prize money and, due to his sensational first two rounds, attracted a gallery of 3,000 yesterday. Snead pocketed $600 in prize money.

KNUTSEN OVER TALABER

COLUMBUS, March 22—The light-heavyweight wrestling crown of Gil Knutsen settled more firmly on his brow today with his unquestioned pin of Chicago's Frankie Talaber, who fell before the Canadian's reverse body slam. It was Knutsen's second win over Talaber, who claimed last week that he was fouled when the champion took the nod.

Fastest Relay Mile In History May Be Scored

By Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, March 22—The fastest relay mile ever run on a standard-sized indoor track was in the making today as Dan (AAU) Ferris selected the western quartet which will meet a picked four from the East at the Finnish relief track meet in Madison Square Garden March 31.

The fastest mile ever run on the 11-lap Garden track was a sensational 3:19 made several years ago but Ferris is confident this time can be beaten, and to break this record he intends to start eight men each capable of running the quarter in 48 seconds!

Only a few years ago he couldn't have found half a dozen 48-second men in the whole world but now he promises to show in one race eight Americans who can turn the trick.

"And that," Dan adds, "is a fine commentary on the development of speed in this country and a sure indication of what our boys would have done if the Olympics were held this year."

The big four from the West for this race are Roy Cochran of Indiana, Warren Breidenbach of Michigan, Jack Sulzmann of Ohio State and Frank Ohl of Pittsburgh.

Cochran is the Big Ten quarter mile champion. Breidenbach was clocked in 47.6 last spring and Sulzmann was runner up to him outdoors in 47.6. Ohl has run a furlong in 21.2 and Ferris thinks he is a sure bet to run a quarter in 48 or better.

Ferris hasn't definitely decided on his eastern quartet but it is not stretching the imagination to suppose that Jim Herbert of N.Y.U., Dick Gill and Douglas Raymond of Boston and Charley Belcher of Georgia Tech are the most probable starters.

Herbert, of course, is the world record holder for 600 yards and he can run the quarter in 47 flat. Belcher has done 47.3 and the other two around 48.

JIM JOHNSTON TO SIGN MEN FOR BOXING MATCHES

NEW YORK, March 22—James J. Johnston, former matchmaker for Madison Square Garden, today plans to sign a contract to act as liaison agent for the fight game between the United States and South America.

Luis Martinez Muchado, wealthy Venezuela promoter, is here to have Johnston sign up American fighters for bouts in Venezuela and other South American countries.

Johnston may take the first batch of Americans to Venezuela next month.

QUEEN MARY AT SEA ON SECRET BRITISH JOURNEY

NEW YORK, March 22—The big 81,000 ton liner Queen Mary, once empress of the British merchant marine, was speeding a zig-zag course at her full 28 knots somewhere at sea today bound on a secret war mission.

It was believed the $25,000,000 liner would soon overtake its smaller sister ship, the Mauretania, which departed New York harbor 12 hours earlier, and that together they will serve as troop ships.

When last observed before disappearing into the ocean mists off Long Branch, N. J., yesterday morning, the Queen Mary appeared to be headed southward on the regular Bermuda run. Popular belief was that either or both ships will transport Australian troops to the Near East where the Allies are congregating a vast military force.

VOICE...of the...PEOPLE

Circleville, Ohio, March 22, 1940.

Editor, The Herald:

As I write I am aware of the fact that I am, to use the common vernacular, "sticking my neck out", but I request only that you give my written thoughts what you will deem a fair amount of consideration, and dispose of them accordingly.

In order not to waste words—How many farmers in Pickaway County who are characterized by any degree of common sense and foresight would buy an inferior type of machinery simply because it is cheaper? How many intelligent citizens of Circleville who can afford the more expensive automobiles prefer to buy cheaper, lighter ones of less substantial material, which inevitably require more in the way of repairs?

What conscientious parent in Circleville desires that his child receive a cheaper, inferior education, when, by coordination of purpose toward mutual benefit, he and his fellow citizens can become very effective instruments in securing an improved and modernized type of learning for their progeny—one that, by reason of methods and materials used, is abreast of the times, fulfilling the extremely exacting requirements with which today's graduates are confronted?

Those citizens of Circleville who have consistently contributed to various and sundry funds destined to support musical and athletic programs in the local school system are to be congratulated and their efforts appreciated. But is it exorbitant to request that they sharpen their vision to the extent of peering behind the scenes for a closer scrutiny of that fundamental and all-important phase of the local educational institution which although it is the true purpose of a school, is not so frequently exhibited before the public eye—namely, the processes of learning and instructing?

Service is the keynote of modern life—or is held to be; service industrial, educational and social. Any good business man knows that the volume of his business is directly proportionate to the amount and quality of service rendered. He also realizes that the term service connotes efficiency plus mutual satisfaction between the parties involved in the transaction.

Altruistic though we may be, or profess to be, what man is there among us who will strive with the utmost of his energies for no matter what cause if he knows within his heart that the compensation,

This is the twentieth century! Every man or woman knows that when he buys a suit of clothing, a dress, a car, an electric iron, an insurance policy, or what have you, he receives exactly what he pays for—no more, no less—in quality and service rendered. In this day and age specialized training, though costly, is necessary. Physicians, lawyers, scientists, journalists, clergymen—all today are men of highly specialized training most of whom are proud of their professions and most of whom receive due esteem and remuneration from those whom they serve. Is there any good reason why educators should be exempted from this classification?—those upon whose shoulders rests the very future of the world, in that they are responsible for the formation of the character and social attitude of the oncoming generations?

OPEN LETTERS

TO CITIZENS

FOLK: The following editorial concerning the Easter observance is one of the finest that I have been permitted to read in a long, long while. It is being passed on to you:

Easter, the great festival of Christianity, derives its name from the ancient Saxon goddess of spring. Many of its customs are similar to rites with which the pagans welcomed spring long before the Christian era. The egg, symbol of life and resurrection in antiquity, naturally became an Easter symbol among Christians. It is said that the early church fathers wisely incorporated in the religious observance of Easter such of the pagan customs as they could not root out.

Thus the new clothes, the profusion of flowers, the church-going, the Easter eggs on the family table and the candy eggs hidden for the children to hunt, all represent a great uplifting of the human spirit in rejoicing and hope, which was felt by past generations as it is by us.

There are peoples in the world today for whom even Easter can have only sorrowful notice. Americans should be deeply thankful for their happier situation.

CIRCUITEER.

TO POLICE

AUTHORITIES: You should be congratulated for carrying on the campaign that you have started to halt juveniles who are breaking various laws. You have been using tact and, generally, your tactics have been excellent. Circleville is being plagued by a series of minor violations that certainly should be broken up and on your shoulders rests much of the responsibility for halting the crimes and teaching the youthful perpetrators proper conduct.

CIRCUITEER.

TO MOTORISTS

DRIVERS: Here, friends, is just a reminder that two new traffic ordinances are effective Friday, and they should be observed to the letter because citations into Mayor W. B. Cady's court are promised for persons who do not abide by their provisions. Passed by council a month ago, they are now law, and they will be enforced. None of you should park on the wrong side of the street and neither should you exceed speed limitations on the city's thoroughfares. Violation of either of these statutes may mean a trip before Mr. Cady and, cooperating with council and the traffic division of the safety department, it is highly possible that the Mayor may charge the penalty where it hurts most, in the pocketbook.

Cars must be parked on the side to the driver's right; the driver must never cut across the street to park on his left. That violation has been a prevalent one for a long while. Motorists are not permitted to drive faster than 35 miles an hour any where in the city, and in the business district and closely populated centers the limit is 20 miles an hour. This speeding law is another that will be enforced, and strictly. All motorists should abide by these statutes because they are designed to provide each better protection.

CIRCUITEER.

TO CITIZENS

ALL: The Rotary Club deserves support for its annual Easter Seal Sale, conducted to help crippled children of the community. A committee from the club has been active for several years in this work, and the community as a whole has benefitted from its efforts. Those gay little seals with the yellow of spring sunshine, the lavender of spring violets and the smiling children, are called Easter Seals. The funds raised by their sale are used for the benefit of crippled persons in the United States, especially crippled children. The Easter Seals, like the Christmas Seals, should be put on the backs of letters, or even inside, to attract the attention of other persons and arouse wider interest in the work. There should be fewer crippled children and adults in this country in future years. Surgeons know more about the treatment of various crippling diseases. They know how to correct slight defects which used to be allowed to grow worse and become permanent. And safety workers are pushing the campaign to prevent accidents which result in crippled limbs.

CIRCUITEER.

TO RELIEF ADMINISTRATION

SIRS: Grocers who have been abiding by state welfare department statutes, and numerous individuals are congratulating you for penalizing two Circleville stores that have been issuing tobacco with relief orders. The penalties should be severe enough that the stores will never again wish to break the law. Relief is being dispensed to relieve persons who do not have enough to eat, and tobacco does not come under this classification. I hope that you continue to check on these violators and that any and all others who do not dispense relief according to the law be cut off the lists permitted to receive orders.

CIRCUITEER.

TO RURAL FOLK

FRIENDS: All of you in the nine townships cooperating in the purchase of a new fire truck for rural runs have been informed concerning the arrival of the new device and each has been informed concerning just what to do in case of a blaze.
Persons who will help fight fires that break out in their districts are reminded to be certain to fill two milk cans with water and to take them to the scene of the flames. This water is very important because in many locations water to supply the pumper is not available. I hope that there are no serious fires in our county, but in case they do break out I hope that 100 percent cooperation will be provided for the fire fighters.

no means is sorry enough, however, to show any enthusiasm over the Norse suggestion that President Roosevelt arbitrate between the little Scandinavian kingdom and the British, on one hand, and the Germans on the other. Nobody questions that F. D. is more than eager to serve as a peacemaker in any promising situation, but this evidently isn't one.

The consensus in our own capital is that the Norwegian authorities bungled the Altmarm matter, too.

It's agreed that the German ship was entitled to seek refuge in Joesing fjord and that Norway with within its rights, under international law, to shelter it, on the assumption that it was a peaceful merchantman, as Berlin contends—not a fighting vessel.

ALTMARM ARMED

It appears, however, that the craft carried a couple of guns.
To be sure, this wasn't a sufficient armament to enable the boat to put up much of a battle.
Nevertheless, to quote international law again, as soon as an erstwhile merchantman mounts any cannon at all it classes technically as a scrapper, and all our international experts take the view that the Norse shouldn't have tolerated its presence for any length of time in their territorial waters without internment it for the duration of the war.

Moreover, Washington reasons that the Norwegian profession of ignorance that the Altmarm had any prisoners on board sounds pretty thin. It's pointed out that 300 prisoners would be middling hard for any boat to hide, if searched very diligently.

BRITAIN SOMEWHAT CRITICIZED

True, we have critics who say that Britain considerably over-strained international law in sending the destroyer Cossack into the fjord, regardless of Norway's neutrality, to take the prisoners off the Altmarm, after a melee in which several Germans were killed, so close to the Norse shore that houses on the Joesing waterfront were punctured by British shots.

Still, even these critics admit that it was almost too much for human endurance to expect the Cossack's commander to accept the story that the German vessel had no prisoners under hatches and intolerable conditions, when he knew to a certainty that the prisoners were there.

Not that a good many allowances aren't made for the Norse.

It's recognized that they're on a desperately hot spot, as between the Germans and the British, and its conceded that they naturally are more urgently afraid of the Germans than of the British—which would account for their oversight of those 300 prisoners in the Altmarm's hold, though mighty few commentators believe they were as unaware of it as they pretend.

PRO-ALLY SENTIMENT

The fact is that, American public opinion unquestionably being overwhelmingly pro-Ally, our internationalists incline to give the benefit of every doubt to the British.

At all events, the Joesing fjord incident is one that our diplomacy decidedly doesn't care to arbitrate. At best, it would be a difficult job. At worst, if we undertook it, we might have to decide that the British gave international law a worse kick in the pants than the Germans or the Norse, either one. And we wouldn't want to do that. It would be a thankless stunt. It wouldn't make for peace and it surely would get us disliked. Let the League of Nations attend to it, as some of the Norwegians have proposed. The league wouldn't have a bit of attention paid to it, for that matter.

Constipation—True and False

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

CONSTIPATION has been variously defined as the "occupational hazard of chess players;" as (by Dr. J. J. Montague) "our common ailment;" as the "curse of civilization;" as "the brunette's albatross," and as a "fragment of the imagination."

As to the last, I believe it is certainly true that those who worry about constipation at all, worry about it too much. An example comes from a correspondent of our family, who quite regularly keeps us informed about the progress of her husband's chronic complaints.

"I think what the matter with Bert is that he is all dried up. He has taken salts every morning for so many years that he is all dehydrated and this makes him feel poisoned so he takes a Turkish bath every day or two, so now he is all wrinkled like a prune. I said to him, 'Why don't you go out on a spree and enjoy yourself for once?'

but he says, no, he is all poisoned inside from his lifelong constipation. The doctor says his colon has not got a wriggle left in it; it is just worn out from all the salts he has taken and it must have a period of rest, but Bert misses his salts."

This letter indicates to me a whole volume of information about constipation.

True and False

There are at least two kinds of constipation—true and false. False constipation is greatly in the majority. The principal cause of it is well indicated in this letter—the habitual use of cathartics of any kind.

Cathartics simply irritate the inside of the bowel and make the constipate feel that there is foreign matter present there and that it ought to be gotten rid of by more cathartics. He, therefore, takes more cathartics and then feels more uneasy. It is a true vicious circle.
One of the most surprising things in the world is to see how promptly one of these cases becomes entirely normal if he can just be persuaded to leave off his cathartics for a while.

The symptoms of false constipation are well illustrated in this letter because the only symptoms are what the patient thinks of the condition. These people are likely to be morose. They think they are morose because they are constipated.
The fact is, they are constipated because they are morose.

THE KILLER SPEAKS

RICHARD HOUGHTON
WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

I, Bill Strickland, am suspected in the murder of my friend, Alfred Markham, rich young jeweler, at a party in the Rio Vista clubhouse garden. I am kidnaped by a man who attacks me in the dark garden an hour later, but I escape from him the next morning in a rowboat and am picked up by a newspaper reporter and Louise Markham, in a motor boat. Miss Markham, convinced I am innocent, takes me to her home where a doctor says all I need is rest.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

I SPENT the rest of that day on the couch in the Markham library. I suspected that the reporter had not notified the police, and had no intention of doing so until after his paper went to press the next morning, but I remembered that he had saved my life. I believed his deception was doing no great harm, and decided that I would not spoil his story for him.

Also, I enjoyed having such a beautiful nurse. She did not smile again, though I did my best to distract her attention.

"You are very brave," I told her.

"Most girls would be in tears."

"I did cry," she admitted, "last night. Alfred was always a wonderful brother to me. But I have been away at school for years; perhaps that is why his death has not prostrated me. And there is George, my other brother, to give me strength."

"Nevertheless, you are very brave," I repeated. "I had no idea who you were until the doctor spoke your name, and I would never have suspected."

"Silly of me, wasn't it, to be out in a boat? That reporter came to the house and said he wanted to search the river. I let him borrow my boat, and I went along. I simply had to do something!"

"I wonder what he expected to find?"

"He said he was sure the mur-derer had come and gone in a boat, and that you had been taken away in a boat. There is a police boat down river, so he was fairly certain no one would try to go that way. We went down only as far as the club, then circled back up stream, looking for strange boats.
We didn't get far. I believe he has gone back to continue his hunt this afternoon."

"He's not so dumb at that," I observed.

"He certainly acts as though he would cut off his right arm to get a story. I never saw him until today. He had my life history in fifteen minutes."

"He's very self-centered. He never did introduce us."

"Oh, I knew who you were as soon as we pulled you into the boat and he said you were the man who had disappeared from the club."

Alfred often spoke of you. You and he were great friends, weren't you? This must be a blow to you,
too."

I swallowed. "It is."

She went to the kitchen to brew me a cup of tea. After a time she returned. "I'll read you a story," she said. "Perhaps it will take both our minds off our troubles."

The afternoon wore on. I wondered who else was in the house. I heard no sound of any other occupant. Reporters from the afternoon and evening papers came to speak to her. She met them at the door, and they had no reason to suspect my presence.

Toward evening I sat up. I felt much better—almost normal, in fact. When Belzer burst in and saw me, however, he set up a howl.
"Put that bandage back on your head," he demanded. "You're a sick man, and the photographer is here to prove it."

The photographer came in, loaded down with his big camera and flash bulbs again. He set up his tripod. Belzer posed me.

"I hope you realize I would never do this if I didn't feel indebted," I said. "He directed me how to grimace as I cough in pain."

They took six flash pictures. The reporter announced, "All we have to do is wait four more hours and it's ours, exclusive. We'll rush these pictures down and get 'em printed. I found your boat. We shot closeups, showing the bullet holes." He grinned. "Boy, what a yarn!"

After he had gone the doorbell rang again. I heard Miss Markham greeting "George" in the entry, and knew her brother had returned. He went directly upstairs.

She came into the library with a finger over her lips. She was carrying a pair of shoes for me to wear.

"I do feel indebted to that reporter, despite his bad manners," she whispered. "I'll keep George out of here for a while. He is very impulsive, and would insist that you go right to the other pers with your story."

I nodded as she withdrew and closed the door. I put on the shoes.

There were sounds in the kitchen now, informing me that the cook, at least, had returned.

George, coming down the stairs, started to open the library door,
but his sister called him to dinner.
A short time later, apparently while he still was eating, she brought me my dinner on a tray.

"George is in a terrible temper tonight," she whispered. "The police have discovered nothing today.
I believe our reporter accomplished more than all of them put together."

I finished my dinner. No one called for the tray. I lay there listening to George and his sister talking, which did not embarrass me, because I could not tell what they were saying. George sounded petulant. His sister's voice was low, musical.

I opened the window beside my couch and stood up to enjoy the fresh air. I stretched my arms. My joints and muscles ached, but otherwise I seemed returning to normal. The dizziness had left my head.

Something came "ting" through the window. Before I could duck it struck me full in the face and dropped to the floor. I stooped and picked up a wad of paper that had been wrapped around a small stone to give it weight.

On the library table I spread it out and read:

"You haven't got away from me.
I'm waiting for you. If you go to the police you won't live to be sorry about it. A rifle makes too much noise down town, but there are other ways!"

The note was unsigned. It was written on several sheets of paper torn from a cheap notebook.

I snapped off the light and looked out the window. There was no one in sight. The man who threw the note would not have had time to run to the end of the block. He must be hiding outside.

There was a telephone on the library table. I picked it up to call the police station, then changed my mind. As I set it back on its hook the room lights flashed on.

George Markham was standing in the doorway, his sister beside him restraining him with one slim hand.

"It's all right, George," she said.
"You know Bill Strickland, Al-fred's friend. He's hurt. This was the best place he could stay."

"The best place . . . Louise, are you out of your mind? The police think this is the man who—who—"

"That's silly, George."

George Markham was not a bad looking sort. He was tall, well built, well dressed. I saw the resemblance to Alfred. I also saw that I was putting him in an embarrassing situation.

"I feel much better," I told him.
"There is no need for me to stay here longer. I understand how you feel about it. I'll go."

"Where?" Louise asked.

"To the police station. It's time they heard my story."

"I'm going with you!" declared the girl.

"Suppose we all go!" George suggested.

Early Homes Discussed For Ashville Garden Club

Nelle Oesterle On Program At Trego Home

Miss Nelle Oesterle of Walnut Township interested the members of the Ashville Garden Club with her talk on "Early Homes of Central Ohio" at the meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Marie Trego of Ashville. Twenty-two members and guests heard Miss Oesterle's informal address, the subject concerning a hobby which she has followed for the last 15 years.

She had visited many of the historical homes discussed and told the interesting details of their doorways and mantels. She traced the architecture of the north or the south as the influence of the early colonial settlers was revealed in the different types of homes.

She displayed many interesting photographs of the early homes and also pictures of unique doorways and interiors.

Mrs. Roger Hedges, president, conducted the brief business hour and announced that the next session, April 17, would be in her home near Ashville. For this meeting, Miss Eleanor Ryan of South Court Street will discuss her summer trip to the British Isles.

The park project of the club was discussed, especially the plans for the shrubbery planting.

Mrs. Orville Vause and Mrs. L. C. Schiff presided at the table. Mrs. David Dunnick, Mrs. Clara Creager and Mrs. William Fischer, Jr., assisted Mrs. Trego in serving.

Scioto Grange

Forty-five members and juveniles attended the Wednesday session of Scioto Grange held in Scioto School. Dwight Bothards, worthy master, led the ritualistic grange opening.

After group singing, the first program was a reading, "A Package of Seeds" by Pearlina Wilkins; solo, "Beautiful Heaven," Mrs. C. M. Beatty; a discussion by four members, Mrs. Nya Davis, Miss Mabel Thompson, C. M. Beatty and S. E. Beers, using the subject, "Which Contributes Most to the Success of the Farm, the Farm or the Farmer?" "Southern Memories" and "Old Black Joe," two vocal duets by Lyle Wilkins and Dan Neal, with Mrs. George Finch playing the piano accompaniments.

After a closing song by the group, refreshments were served by Mrs. Frank Hudson, Mrs. Lloyd Melvin and Miss Alma Hudson.

Anniversary Observed

The eighteenth anniversary of the Three T Club of New Holland was observed with a luncheon Thursday at 1 p. m. at the Town House, Chillicothe. Twelve of the 16 members were present.

A "horn of plenty" centered the table where the guests were served the delightful three course luncheon, greetings of the season on Easter dillies scattered on the tables adding to the attractiveness of the setting. An interesting feature was the large birthday cake decorated in Easter colors, bearing 18 burning candles, and displayed in an Easter nest.

The club has seven who have been members during its entire life, six being at the anniversary meeting. These were Mrs. Cranston McQuay, who is president; Mrs. Russell Ebert, Mrs. Roy Griffith, Mrs. Floyd James of New Holland; Mrs. Almer Junk of Xenia and Mrs. Homer Wright of Salt Creek Township. Other members served were Mrs. Leslie Tarbill, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Marvin Hosler, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Dudley Briggs, Mrs. Roy Stewart, New Holland and Mrs. Homer Leaverton, Chillicothe.

Auction bridge was played during the afternoon, the prizes going to Mrs. Ebert for high score, Mrs. Leaverton for low, Mrs. Hosler receiving the traveling award.

Mrs. Roy Stewart will entertain the club in April.

Willing Workers' Class

Eighteen members and 18 visitors comprised the group in attendance at the Thursday meeting of the Willing Workers' Class of the United Brethren Church of Washington Township, at the home of Mrs. A. W. Bosworth of that community.

Miss Huldah Leist, president, was in charge of the devotionals, reading the Easter message from Matthew 27, and leading in prayer.

The Bible questions were in charge of Mrs. Russell Palm.

Mrs. Floyd Brobst and Mrs. Bosworth conducted interesting contests which were the entertainment of the social hour.

An appropriate Easter lunch was served, the table having an attractive centerpiece of spring flowers.

Mrs. Elmon Richards of Washington Township will entertain the class April 18.

Jackson Handicraft Club

Mrs. Frank Bowling of Jackson Township entertained the Jackson Handicraft Club Thursday with Mrs. E. L. Figgatt and Mrs. Warren Harman as assisting hostesses. Fifty-three members enjoyed the pleasant evening.

Contests constituted the entertainment, the prizes being awarded Mrs. Thomas Wright and Mrs. Hodgson.

The club members were busy during the evening with sewing, crocheting and knitting and various other interesting crafts.

Easter colors were used in the decorations of the Bowling home, masses of spring flowers being featured. A salad course was served.

The club will meet in two weeks, the place to be announced later.

Today's Garden-Graph

Transplanting Choice Shrubs

When overcrowding of shrubs in a garden or foundation planting forces one to consider transplanting them, they should not be dug up with bare roots if they are choice plants which one would not want to run the risk of losing.

In moving choice or valuable shrubs, they should be dug with a ball of earth about their roots, and this ball, in turn, burlapped, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph, so the transplanting can be done without danger of breaking the ball and disturbing the roots. Before digging shrubs for transplanting, draw in the spreading branches compactly by tying them about with twine or tape.

A damp, cloudy day, or late in the afternoon, is the best time for transplanting.

A Letter To Milk Consumers

Dear Citizens:

We wish to announce that our milk plant is going under federal and state milk inspection. In preparation for this we have bought two new pasteurizers built with stainless steel and glass lined which are considered the latest and most efficient type. We will also install recording thermometers, new dial scales, stainless steel receiving and weighing tanks, a stainless steel cheese vat. Many other modern changes will be made within two or three weeks.

Inspection of cows and barns of those who produce our milk will be made at least once per month. Bacterial and sediment tests of the milk from each farm will be made regularly as well as of our finished pasteurized products.

We sell milk in Pickaway, Fairfield, Hocking and Ross Counties. Owing to the fact that Pickaway County has no health unit to take care of such inspection, the Ross County unit will care for our milk plant.

For two years our record has been very good, but with our new equipment and our triple bottle wash we hope to still improve our record.

No person in Circleville from now on need have any fear about milk. We will be the only plant that will have 100% rigid inspection.

Yours,

The Circle City Dairy

BANDIT'S VISIT TO HOME STUNS AGED RESIDENT

COLUMBUS, March 22 — The excitement of a burglar's visit today was given as the cause of a cerebral hemorrhage suffered by 82-year-old A. G. Mulligan, formerly of New Lexington, who was reported in critical condition.

The retired molder suffered a stroke when a burglar attempted to batter down the door of his home, directly across the street from the home of Mrs. Alice Lauterbaugh, 75-year-old spinster who was the victim of a brutal attack-murderer only a short time ago. Police were attempting to connect the two criminal visitations.

Eight Policemen Take Part In Drive; Statement Of January 1 Recalled

WASHINGTON C. H., March 22 — Following confiscation of 23 slot machines in raids on the Elks, Eagles and Moose lodge rooms, City Manager Edwin Ducey repeated the statement he made when he took office on January 1, that all the laws are to be enforced without favoritism.

A squad of eight policemen led by Police Chief Jack Wolfe removed six slot machines from the Elks lodge room, eight from the Moose lodge room and nine from the Eagles meeting place. All the machines were in operation when the police made the raids at 6 p. m. Thursday, the city manager said.

Armed with search warrants when he entered the lodge rooms, the police chief reported that he had met with no resistance in any of the places raided. The machines were taken to police headquarters. Destruction of the machines will take place after the proper legal steps have been completed.

The lodge room raids were made following the raid on a dining room early Thursday when six men were taken into custody and booked on charges of gaming. The men forfeited the $10 bonds that they each had posted when they failed to appear later in the day before Police Judge S. A. Murray.

CITY ATTORNEY BLOCKS BALLOT AT UTILITY COST

COLUMBUS, March 22 — The plan for submitting the 15-year-old Columbus gas rate fight to the voters at a special election was apparently blocked today by a ruling of City Attorney John L. Davies, who held that council was without power to take such a step.

Davies' ruling, made at a special session of the council considering the gas rate case, was followed by a bitter verbal altercation between Council President Roger N. Addison and Prof. Robert M. Hunter of the Ohio State University public utility law department, who criticized council for considering a compromise settlement.

The meeting broke up in disorder without a decision being reached. Another meeting was set tentatively for sometime next week.

by another roomer at the house, attributed the stroke to excitement brought about by the would-be intruder's visit.

Schedule Of Fines Set Up By Statute Recently Voted By Council

SPEED RATES ARE SET

20 Miles An Hour Limit Established For Uptown, Closely-Built Areas

Two traffic ordinances recently passed by city Council become effective at midnight Friday. Violation of the ordinances from Saturday morning onward will be cited as misdemeanors and punishable by fines after a hearing in Mayor William Cady's court.

The first ordinance aims to eliminate the parking of vehicles, on the wrong side of the street. It becomes unlawful for a vehicle to stop on any road, highway or street within the corporate limits of the city facing in any other direction other than the direction of travel.

Drivers of cars parked along streets with the front end of the cars pointed against the flow of traffic will be fined not more than $25 for the first offense. Any person cited for a second offense of the regulation will be fined not more than $100 nor less than $25.

The second ordinance establishes new speed regulations within the city limits. Speed in the business district of the city is not to exceed 20 miles per hour. This rate of speed is applicable to sections of the city that are closely built up and where the traffic is unusually heavy. A rate of 35 miles per hour is permitted in all other portions of the corporation limits of the city.

Heavy fines will result from the violation of the speed ordinance. The first offense is punishable by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100. Citation for a second offense will result in a driver facing a fine of not less than $25 and not more than $100. Fines for a third offense are to be not less than $50 nor more than $200.

City police warned that these ordinances will be strictly enforced.

12-MINUTE START GIVES FRAUD SUSPECT LIBERTY

Sheriff's Deputies Earl Weaver and Robert Armstrong missed an arrest because a suspected criminal had a 12-minute start. The deputies made a dash up Route 23 to South Bloomfield Thursday afternoon after they had learned that a suspect wanted for fraud was there.

The suspect perhaps knew that the deputies were on their way for he slipped into a new automobile and crossed the Franklin County line ahead of the deputies and disappeared.

The name of the suspect and the particular crime for which he is wanted were not disclosed by the sheriff's office.

LANCASTER MAN NEW MANAGER OF STIFFLER STORE

Fred Rauch, Lancaster, who has been associated with the Charles P. Wiseman Company for 34 years, 23 of which were spent as a member of the firm, has been named the new manager of the Circleville branch of the Stiffler's Stores.

Through his many years with the Lancaster firm, Mr. Rauch knows the business of merchandising thoroughly. He plans to stock the store with the latest types of fabrics and ready to wear garments.

Mr. Rauch has a son and a daughter both attending Ohio State University in Columbus.

THREE PERSONS NOW IN DEATH ROW AT PRISON

COLUMBUS, March 22—Three persons were in Ohio Penitentiary's "death row" today following the arrival of Angelo Porello, 53-year-old Cleveland bootlegger, who was sentenced to die for the fatal shooting of a former partner, Joseph Smeraldi, during an argument over money. He will be executed July 26.

At the same time, M. F. Kilbane, Cuyahoga County's chief jailer, brought to the prison John L. McCormick, 21-year-old former University of Pittsburgh student, who is to serve a life sentence. McCormick was found guilty of the first-degree murder of a Special Policeman during the robbery of a telegraph agency, but the jury recommended mercy.

Others in death row were Eugene Harris, Dayton Negro, to die April 31, and Monroe Bohannon, 33, Cincinnati, who will be electrocuted May 31.

Pickaway County Farmers Give FLEET-WING

1st PLACE IN FUELS

There is a reason why Fleet-Wing products are used by more Pickaway County farmers than any other brand. And that reason is that Fleet-Wing fuels have, over a long period of time, consistently given our local farmers 100% satisfactory results wherever used.

And that's what you farmers want... reliable fuels that will do a job for you day in and day out—every day in the year. We know what Fleet-Wing is doing for the MAJORITY of the farmers of the county and we feel sure that they will do a better job for you.

If you are one of the few farmers not using Fleet-Wing fuels, drop into our office in Circleville and let us tell you why more farmers are using them and exactly what they can do for you. Come in before Spring work gets too heavy—we'll be glad to see you and talk with you.

BRITISH SINK NAZI STEAMER IN OUTBREAK OF NAVAL WAR

15 Ships Sent To Bottom

Germans Lose Liner Trapped In Danish Coast Region

SAILORS RESCUED

Many Vessels Of English, Neutral Nations Lost

LONDON, March 22 — Striking back at Germany for her aerial and submarine warfare against British and neutral shipping, a British submarine today sank the 4,947-ton German steamer Hedderheim.

An official announcement said the British submersible intercepted the German craft eight miles off the Danish Coast. All members of the crew were reported safe.

(A dispatch from Copenhagen stated that the German vessel was torpedoed at 3:15 a. m. northeast of Skaw. A Danish coastguard cutter saved the crew excepting the first engineer, who was taken aboard the British submarine.)

Sinking of the Hedderheim, believed to have been the first Nazi merchantman successfully torpedoed by a British submarine since outbreak of the war, indicated sharp intensification of Britain's hostilities on the sea.

To reach the spot off the Skaw where the Hedderheim went down, the British submersible had to penetrate heavily mined waters and sweep through the entire Skagerrak and the northern reaches of the Kattegat, route of Germany's indispensable traffic in iron ore from Sweden.

British submarines in the past have attacked German naval vessels inside these waters, but the sinking of the Hedderheim possibly indicated a new campaign to throttle trade in essential war materials.

At the same time, the toll of British and neutral victims of Germany's U-boats rose steadily. It was acknowledged that 15 vessels had been sunk or damaged within the last three days.

This afternoon, it was announced that the 3,270-ton Danish ship Christianborg and the 1,267-ton Norwegian vessel Svinta were torpedoed and that the 1,026-ton Danish Charkow was sunk off the east coast of Scotland, presumably by a mine.

A short time earlier, it was reported that the 1,650-ton Danish freighter Algier was torpedoed and sunk in the Atlantic yesterday with a loss of four lives, one of them an unidentified woman passenger.

An admiralty communique accusing Germany of attacking unarmed ships was issued after Nazi planes visited both the northern and southern ends of the British Isles on reconnoitering expeditions which caused no damage.

The admiralty denied Berlin claims that nine war and merchant ships were sunk.

The Rev. C. R. Miller

Albert Santilli

Mrs. Santilli

TRAPPED through a state trooper's underworld disguise, a spiritualist minister and a tavern keeper's wife are held in Uniontown, Pa., jail for an alleged murder-for-insurance plot to dispose of the woman's husband, Albert Santilli. The accused are Mrs. Amella Santilli, 31, and the Rev. Clayton R. Miller, 63. According to police, Miller arranged with a former convict to find someone to "take a man for a ride." Police were tipped off, and State Trooper W. J. Hayes was assigned to the task of "killing" Santilli. Hayes told his superiors that he was promised $2,500 for Santilli's death.

An inference voiced in Circleville council meeting Wednesday evening that the Pickaway County auditor's office has failed to credit the city with relief money received from various state tax funds earmarked for that purpose was refuted Friday by auditor's office attaches.

Councilmen and Solicitor J. W. Adkins, after hearing Delos H. Marcy, relief director, discuss the relief problem as a whole, engaged in a lengthy discussion Wednesday evening during which statements were made that money coming into the county each month should have been credited to the city's account and that a substantial surplus should exist at present in the city's favor. City officials said that they believed utility excise taxes and tax from beer, malt and admissions should have been divided into city and county funds in proportion to the amount paid into the state treasury from the various taxing units.

All in General Fund

Employees in the office of Auditor Forrest Short said that until House Bill 675 became effective last July 1 all money from these collections was put into one fund, the county general fund for relief, unless otherwise specified by the County Budget Commission. The Commission did not earmark any of this money for any fund, thus leaving all of it for the general relief account. All relief bills were paid from this fund, the auditor's office reported, with no break-down provided by the state. "No indication was given in the state report concerning how much should be paid for city relief and how much for county relief," one of the office attaches said.

Up to July 1, 1939, the county took care of all relief problems in city and county. When House Bill 675 became effective, Short's aides said, separate tax units were set up, but a contract between the city and county was signed and approved by the state welfare office wherein Marcy's office continued to administer relief for both units.

Since July 1, 1939, funds received from utility and beer, malt and admissions taxes have been (Continued on Page Four)

JAPS SUSPEND TERM IN PRISON FOR INS WRITER

TOKYO, March 22 — Two months and a day after his arrest, James R. Young, Tokyo manager of International News Service, was released from jail today on bail after receiving a suspended sentence of six months' imprisonment for violating the Japanese military code.

Young went immediately to his residence at the Imperial Hotel. He will remain free on bail pending decision by the procurator (district attorney) as to whether an appeal will be accepted.

In passing sentence, Judge Sanehira Hotta found extenuating circumstances in the fact that Young is an American citizen "and America is a country where great freedom of speech exists."

The indictment on which the correspondent was tried embraced thirteen points. He was imprisoned in Cell 13, and his arrest occurred during his thirteenth year of residence in Japan.

SHOW GIRL, 16, TO WED NORMA TALMADGE'S EX

NEW YORK, March 22 — Lois Andrews, one of New York's most popular show girls, and George Jessel, recently divorced by Norma Talmadge, announced early today in a New York night club that they'll soon be married. Miss Andrews, not quite 16, said her mother was planning in from Hollywood today to give her blessing to the union.

THREE MEN RAID INN, TAKE MONEY, JEWELS, CLOTHES

WARREN, March 22 — Armed with revolvers, three men early today held up the Evergreen Inn, two miles north of Warren, herded 23 persons, including eight women, into a basement and robbed them of $250 in cash and $100 worth of jewelry.

After tying their victims with clothes line the bandits leisurely ransacked the apartment of the inn proprietor, Eli Bonich, taking 13 suits of clothes, 15 dresses, a radio, cigarette machine and eight gallons of wine. On their way out they seized overcoats of the patrons.

Bonich said the bandits were in the place three hours.

PROPOSALS OF STATE TO HELP RELIEF HEARD

Auditor Says License Tag Revocation Might Be Of Some Help

COLUMBUS, March 22 — Suggestions advanced during a three-hour conference by the state welfare department for the elimination of any relief difficulties during 1940 were coldly received today by Pickaway County officials and Circleville Solicitor J. W. Adkins.

William Hartsough, state relief consultant, and auditors for the state welfare department advanced for consideration a program embodying three points that met with opposition from the county delegation. The points were:

- 1.—Issuance of delinquent tax bonds by the county to yield $19,063 for poor relief.
- 2.—Passage of a 1½ mill levy by the county, (requiring a 65 percent majority) at the May 14 primary.
- 3.—Expansion of the WPA program.

Although the conference was not attended by Circleville officials other than Adkins, the county delegation, headed by Forrest Short, county auditor, was reluctant to consider issuance of the tax bonds.

MRS. CALLAHAN'S QUINS WILL NOT EVEN BE TWINS

MIAMI, Fla., March 22 — Mrs. Emory Callahan, 22-year-old bride of eight months, philosophically accepted the news today that further x-ray examinations show that she will not bear quintuplets as it had earlier been believed.

In a statement issued over the signature of Publisher John S. Knight of the Miami Herald it was stated that evidence of only one embryo was visible by x-ray.

"Although a preliminary examination indicated that Mrs. Callahan might soon become the mother of quintuplets, x-ray plates taken Thursday at the direction of the Miami Herald reveal that nothing other than a normal birth is to be expected," the Miami Herald announcement stated.

The newspaper had offered to pay the cost of Mrs. Callahan's confinement when "it became evident that unless some directing agency stepped in, well meaning but naturally curious persons might cause great damage to her peace of mind," the statement continued, adding:

"In the interest of medical science and the ultimate welfare of the Callahan family... the cost of Mrs. Callahan's medical and hospital care will continue to be paid by the Herald just as though today's examination had supported the previous belief that she was to be the mother of quintuplets."

ALICE TO GET DECREE

LOS ANGELES, March 22 — Alice Faye today is slated to take the final step toward ending her "remote control" marriage to Singer Tony Martin. She is to appear before Superior Judge Thomas C. Gould for hearing of her divorce suit, filed recently.

CROMWELL SILENT ABOUT REBUKE BY CORDELL HULL

NEW YORK, March 22 — For the time being, James H. R. Cromwell, U. S. minister to Canada, kept his silence today concerning the stinging rebuke administered to him publicly by Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Cromwell and his wife, the former Doris Duke, flew from Canada to their home in Somerville, N. J., for the Easter week end.

At Cromwell's Fifth Avenue office in New York, a spokesman said:

"Mr. Cromwell has left town. Until he visits Washington he will not comment. He will probably go to Washington before next week."

INGALLS LINING UP TAFT DRIVE

Campaign Manager Claims Ohio 100 Percent For Favorite Son

CLEVELAND, March 22 — Personal of the Ohio "Taft for President" committee was announced today by David S. Ingalls, campaign manager for U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft, who said that Ohio's 52 delegates "will go to Philadelphia 100 percent behind the senator."

"Unanimous indorsement of Senator Taft for president by the 88 Republican County organizations is in line with Ohio Republicans' solid support of the senator for nomination at the Philadelphia national convention in June," Ingalls said.

Gov. John W. Bricker heads the committee's executive body, which also includes every member of the governor's cabinet and leading Republicans in every Ohio county.

Republican State Chairman Ed D. Schorr is an officer of the committee, together with all Republican state central committeemen and committeewomen. Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland and Congressman Dudley A. White of Norwalk, candidates for U. S. senator, also are on the executive committee.

Carmi A. Thompson of Cleveland is chairman; Ingalls is honorary chairman; Paul W. Walter of Cleveland, executive secretary; Mrs. Katherine Kennedy Brown, Dayton, Republican national committeewoman from Ohio, chairwoman; former Governor Myers Y. Cooper, treasurer.

In announcing that 88 county Republican committees throughout the state have unanimously indorsed (Continued on Page Four)

CONGRESS TOLD OF DANGERS IN MORE SPENDING

WASHINGTON, March 22 — The Roosevelt administration sent two sharp economy warnings to congress today, as the senate prepared to pass the $1,000,000,000 farm bill.

The warnings were sent in the form of two letters, one from Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, the other from the general accounting office, to Senator Harry Byrd (D) Virginia, one of the leading economy advocates on Capitol Hill.

These two letters notified Democratic leaders, who voted for $212,000,000 of parity payments and $85,000,000 of commodity surplus disposal funds in the farm bill, that the money cannot be taken from the treasury general fund to carry this load. The house refused to provide these funds. Both Senate Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky and Senator Byrnes of South Carolina, an active administration lieutenant, suggested on the senate floor that the money be taken from the general fund.

Cromwell Speech Draws Fire

Minister Cromwell

Senator Clark

SPEECH made in Toronto by James H. R. Cromwell, recently named United States minister to Canada, draws the fire of Senator Bennett Champ Clark (D) of Missouri and results in an order from United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull for Cromwell to give him an official copy of the text. Cromwell's speech criticized totalitarian governments and voiced strong support for the Allies. Clark asked recall of Cromwell as minister. Cromwell is the husband of Doris Duke Cromwell, the tobacco heiress, and only recently assumed his post in Ottawa.

Total of Bodies Found In Mine Climbs to 37

NEFFS, O., March 22 — As weary rescue crews struggled through tons of debris to reach the bodies of 35 miners still entombed, a congressional subcommittee today was to make a formal inquiry into the blast that ripped through the Willow Grove mine and claimed the lives of 72 men.

Eight more bodies were brought up during the night, bringing the total number recovered since last Saturday to 37.

Meanwhile, mine officials denied emphatically charges contained in mysteriously circulated handbills, that the blast was caused by coal dust in digging rooms which had not been rock-dusted.

Members of the congressional committee on mines and mining were to inspect the wrecked section of the mine. Following the tour, Congressman Bradley (R-Michigan) said he would meet in formal session with Representatives Winter (R-Kansas), Cravens (D-Arkansas), and Peterson (D-Florida) to draft a report.

While they will attempt to discover the cause of the blast, Bradley said their main purpose would be to determine if passage of a proposed federal mine inspection bill would prevent similar disasters in the future.

Four members of the Ohio Senate mine committee were to assist the group. They were Tom W. Jones, Middleport; Roy N. Merryman, Steubenville; Walter G. Nickels, New Philadelphia and Roy Palmer, Barnesville, all Republicans.

The explosion claimed the life of a third rescuer yesterday with the death in Belleaire Hospital of Paul Taylor, 29, St. Clairsville. Taylor was gassed when he attempted to enter the pit immediately after the blast. The two others who died were Mine Supt. John Richards and Howard Sanders, Upple foreman, who were with Taylor at the time.

In Columbus, Will T. Blake, chairman of the state industrial commission, said the commission had approved maximum benefits of $6,700 each to widows of Richards and Sanders. Other claims will be rushed through, Blake stated, and total payments will reach $400,000.

DEPUTIES HEAR NEW MINISTER SCORE FUEHRER

Soviet Russians Linked With Germany By Paul Reynaud, Premier

Two Statements Bring Mild Cheers From Right Area Of Chamber

PARIS, March 22 — In a declaration as brief as it was forceful, Premier Paul Reynaud went before the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon with a pledge that France will fight "total war" until the "genius of destruction" guiding Nazi Germany is totally wiped out.

The new chief of state presented his 22-man war cabinet to the chamber, asked for parliamentary cooperation and gave the country all that it desired in a promise to wage determined warfare to the finish.

Significantly, he linked Soviet Russia with his indictment of Germany.

"France is engaged in total war," he said in his 250-word speech.

"Our powerful enemy has transformed and concentrated all its human activities into means of making war."

"By the same token, the stake of this 'guerre totale' is a 'stake totale' (implying that the issue is to win all or to lose everything.)"

"Lose and Lose All"

"By its expression of national sentiment, parliament has measured the full extent of these terrible realities."

COPENHAGEN — A Moscow radio broadcast launched a violent attack today against "reactionary parties in Sweden" which were accused of allying at an "anti-Russian defense union" among Sweden, Finland and Norway. The Russian broadcaster expressed doubt, however, whether Finland would be drawn into such a combination or would "prefer to obtain favors by living at peace with her great neighbor"—meaning the Soviet Union.

LONDON — A grim warning that Britain and Germany are still only "sparring" in the air and that German cities will be bombed if German planes bomb British centers was placed before the British public today by Britain's Vice Air Marshal, Ernest Leslie Gossage.

ARTHUR MILLER, NATIVE OF CITY, IS DEAD AT 67

Arthur Thurman Miller, 67, fireman at the county courthouse for the last 38 years, died Friday at 1:15 a. m. at his home, 123 North Scioto Street, after illness of a week. Mr. Miller suffered from chronic Bright's disease.

He was a native of Circleville, born April 5, 1872, a son of William H. and Elizabeth Ann Snyder Miller. He married Lucinda Shoemaker, September 17, 1899. Mrs. Miller and two children, Thurman I. Miller and Mrs. Margaret R. Moore, surviving in addition to the following brothers and sisters, Edson Miller, Mrs. Andrew Roundhouse and Miss Mayme Miller, of Circleville; Fred Miller and Mrs. Fannie Wade of Chillicothe; Mrs. Amos Wilson of Columbus, and one grandchild, Mary Lou Moore.

The funeral will be Monday at 10:30 a. m. at the Mader Service chapel, the Rev. G. L. Troutman officiating with burial in Hillier-Ludwig Cemetery. Friends may call at the Mader Chapel after 5 p. m. Saturday.

PRESIDENT SEEKS WHEAT FOR STARVING CHINESE

WASHINGTON, March 22 — President Roosevelt today transmitted to the Red Cross an urgent appeal for a gift of cracked wheat to meet a "desperate food shortage" in China.

At the President's direction, White House Secretary Stephen J. Early requested Red Cross Chairman Norman Davis to give the appeal immediate consideration.

FLOOD CONTROL WORK URGED BY DISTRICT BOARD

Reservoirs On Darby And Deer Creek On List For Authorization

MUCH MONEY IS SOUGHT

Plan Put Before Committee Of House For Action In Next Year

A flood defense program that would include much work in the Scioto River Valley has been put before the House flood control committee in Washington, D. C. with supporters of the program asking that some of the work be done this year.

Under the program dams would be constructed on Deer and Darby Creeks in Pickaway County for conservation of water and prevention of floods. A total of four reservoirs at cost of $13,000,000 would be constructed on the Scioto River in addition to one at Delaware already authorized.

Army engineers would also be asked to consider changing the channel of the Scioto north of Chillicothe to provide better protection for the Ross County seat.

The plan, proposed by the Ohio Valley Flood Control and Conservation League, would cost many millions.

Other projects in the $60,000,000 program for 1940 and their estimated costs were Burnsville, W. Va., reservoir, $2,748,000; Summerville, W. Va., reservoir, $14,900,000; Sutton, W. Va., reservoir, $12,676,000; Fish Trap, Ky., reservoir, $5,890,000, and East Fork, O., reservoir, $4,450,000.

Local works would be authorized for Huntington, W. Va.; Point Pleasant, W. Va.; Russell, Ky.; Wilder, Ky.; Uniontown, Ky.; Cleves, Ohio; Adams, Ind.; Clinton, Ind.; Russell, Ill. and Allison, Ill.

The league also presented a list of projects included in the $165,000,000 program but not proposed for authorization this year. In this list were projects at Shenango, Pa.; Dale Hollow, Tenn.; Cave Run, Ky.; Falmouth, Ky.; Wolf Creek, Ky.; Jassamine Creek, Ky.; Rough River, Ky.; West Fork, Little Kanawha, W. Va.; Ashland, Ky.; Wellburg, W. Va.; Manchester, O.; New Martinsville, W. Va.; Augusta, Ky.; Vanceburg, Ky.; West Bridgewater, Pa., and Cole Grove, O.

Chairman Whittington, Democrat, Mississippi, has said the committee's 1940 authorization bill for the whole country would not propose an expenditure of more than $175,000,000, and even this would conflict with the wishes of President Roosevelt, who suggested that Congress refrain from making new authorizations.

Representative Elston, Republican, Ohio, urged the committee to consider his proposal to authorize local interests to advance money for their projects subject

ASHVILLE

By S. D. Fridley
Ashville, Phone 79

The prospects for getting the local creamery back into full operation again are getting brighter each day. The cream collecting truck, according to plans now, will be making neighborhood calls to the farm homes beginning with the coming week.

Ashville—Sterley Foreman, brother of our L. B. Foreman, and located on what is known as the Barcus land up on 23, has purchased what is known the Squires dwelling home on West Main Street. According to a statement given us, Mr. Foreman the new owner, will not occupy the property himself, at least for some little while. A Zanesville party who desires to locate here, made an effort to either rent or purchase Mr. Foreman's new buy but we have not been able to contact either of them for a statement.

Ashville—Met Henry Gloyd and knowing that he is a combination carpenter and painter, knew it was a good time and place to get a line of news along his work. Said he is the "big boy", superintendent and everything about the completing of the new North Long Street church now shaping up toward completion within the next few weeks if weather is favorable for work. Told us, too, that work prospects were never better and thinks he has enough jobs now contracted to last through the work season. The son, he said, who usually works with them, has employment on county or state work as a form builder.

Ashville—Monroe Boyer, a part of the everyday works around here years ago, got in the road of "the third" up at the postoffice and in answer to our questions, let us know that he is plenty busy now straighten-

ing and cleaning up his dwelling property he recently purchased here—even tearing down the barn. Said, too, that he scarcely knew Ashville anymore, things having changed so much. And recalled that how he used to drive a team of good horses to a fine buggy canvassing all over this territory selling farm implements and buggies for Jonathan Brinker located then at Brinker's Corner and 42 years ago, the time this was all happening, he said.

Ashville—The fire alarm siren sounded Thursday afternoon as a tryout signal, one long blast denoting that the fire is on the East side and two for a West side blaze. But the amusing part of it, many did not know the blasts were "phony" ones and immediately put themselves "in action full steam ahead"—with no fire to go to. The N. & W. railroad serves as the dividing line between East and West sides in the siren blasts.

Ashville—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coon of Washington D. C. called on their cousin Anna Fridley Thursday afternoon.

DRIVER OF AUTO FATAL TO MAN, WIFE PAROLED

Beeman Leasure Wins His Freedom March 1, 1941,
From Ohio Farm

1938 TRAGEDY RECALLED

Brother To Be Turned Out
At Same Time In Theft
Of Automobile

Beeman Leasure of Ross County, whose reckless operation of an automobile killed Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Crawford of the Whisler community May 7, 1938, will be released on parole from the London prison farm of the Ohio State penitentiary March 1, 1941. He has been serving a term of one to 20 years for second degree manslaughter.

Leasure was arrested after the wreck which happened on Route 56 southeast of Circleville. The Crawfords with other members of their family were returning home when the car driven by Leasure crashed into their vehicle. Sheriff's deputies charged that Leasure was intoxicated. Several of his brothers riding with him were sent to the county jail on intoxication charges.

Only one of two indictments returned against Leasure were pressed against him, one being nolleed in exchange for a plea of guilty to the other.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford were returning to their home after attending the Northwest Territory celebration in Circleville when the tragedy happened.

At the same time that Beeman Leasure is freed, Denver Leasure, a brother, will be released on parole from the same institution. He has been serving time for operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

Seventy-four prison farm convicts were paroled Thursday in a session of the State Parole and Pardon Commission.

OLIVER BOY CITED

Charges of petit larceny were lodged against Harry Oliver, 16, South Scioto Street, after he was caught allegedly stealing a bicycle at 5:30 p. m. Thursday. A hearing has not been scheduled, but it is expected that he will face Mayor William Cady in the mayor's court Friday or be turned over to juvenile authorities.

U. S. VOLUNTEERS FOR SERVICE IN FRANCE TO SAIL

NEW YORK, March 22 — The first contingent of American volunteer ambulance drivers for service in France will depart tomorrow on the liner Manhattan, it was disclosed today by the American field service in France. This organization, revived by Americans who drove ambulances for the Allies in the World War, has opened branches in 20 American cities and is recruiting volunteers.

CHILLICOTHE, March 22 — Spring and summer zephyrs will be gentle on the sensitive noses of the Chillicothe citizenry for the old fashioned open-top trucks are to be replaced by a new streamlined model of enlarged capacity. The purchase of a two-ton truck from the Hummel Motor Company for $2,750 was authorized Friday by the Board of Control.

ILLINOIS' MOVE TO DIVERT LAKE WATER OPPOSED

COLUMBUS, March 22 — Ohio will join other eastern and mid-western states in opposing the application of the state of Illinois for permission to divert an additional 5,000 feet of water per second from Lake Michigan before the United States Supreme Court Monday.

This was disclosed today when aides of Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert said he left for Washington last night to prepare for the hearing before the high tribunal.

Herbert's Chief Counsel, E. G. Schuessler, said the Ohio attorney general would join representatives from other states in presenting arguments before the high tribunal against the proposed increased diversion.

In a brief prepared before he left, Herbert contended that Illinois does not need the water and that, with proper and efficient operation, raw sewage in the Illinois River could be handled with existing sewage treatment plants.

Herbert also contends that increased diversion would be harmful to commerce at Cleveland, Lorain and other points along Erie and other Great Lakes.

Ohio and other states instituted an action in 1926 against Illinois and the Chicago sanitary district because the tremendous diversion of water from the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence area was affecting harbor facilities adversely.

In 1930, the Supreme Court issued a decree gradually scaling down the amount of water diversion to a minimum of 1500 cubic feet per second as of December 31, 1938. That is the present rate.

Illinois contends 5,000 cubic feet per second additional are necessary to proper disposal of sewage, pending completion of the sewage treatment system, or until December 31, 1942.

EUROPEAN WAR FAILS TO HELP OHIO FARMERS

Wheat Quotations In U. S. Ahead Of World Market, Economists Show

COLUMBUS, March 22—Four months of war in Europe has resulted in increased exports of industrial products and decreased exports of agricultural products from the United States. United States wheat prices are far above world prices so there is little probability of an increased export trade in wheat.

Indicators used to check trends in business continued to show declines in February that began in January. Some forecasters, however, are expecting an upturn to come earlier than the mid-season rise previously predicted.

Members of the agricultural economics department at Ohio State University say Ohio farm prices in February stood at 94 percent of the average for 1910-14. Increases in prices for eggs helped to offset declines in prices paid for beef cattle and veal calves.

Ohio soybean prices dropped from $1.05 in January to 96 cents in February but were still well above the 70 cent price level which farmers obtained in February, 1939. The demand for soybean cake and meal appears to be considerably greater than a year ago.

Total sales on 10 leading tobacco markets in Kentucky were $11,000,000 pounds during the season just ended at an average price of $18.36 a hundred pounds. This compared with sales of 179,000,000 pounds at $20.43 a hundred in 1938-39. A marketing quota for the 1940 crop was approved by 83 percent of the growers affected.

Ohio farm prices for potatoes increased as usual during February. Farm marketing in the state did not increase the usual amount for the month. Cold weather in Florida reduced crop prospects there by 650,000 bushels and this will shorten the early crop moving to market until about the middle of April.

WALLACE FLAYS TAFT'S TALK ON FARM PROBLEMS

WASHINGTON, March 22—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace today took sharp issue with Senator Robert A. Taft, Ohio's republican presidential candidate, over the administration's farm program.

Taft, in a radio speech Monday had charged that "farm prices were in general lower in August 1939, than they were in August 1933, after the first boom and before any of the New Deal's farm control measure began."

Senator Schwellenbach (D) Washington, an ardent New Dealer, immediately asked Wallace for comment. Wallace, in a letter to Schwellenbach, accused Taft of making "serious errors" in his statement.

Wallace pointed out that the farm price of wheat in February 1940 was 84.1 cents a bushel, while the price in February 1933 was 32.2 cents.

DEPUTIES HEAR NEW MINISTER SCORE FUEHRER

the deputies cheered him on two occasions—first on his reference to Soviet "treason" and again when he pledged complete coordination of the nation's war activities.

At the conclusion, there was mild applause, although the entire right remained silent.

Members of the Radical Socialist Party had indicated they would abstain from the initial vote of confidence, making immediate downfall of the cabinet likely, but later information said they had reconsidered their decision.

Reynaud read the declaration to his so-called "victory" cabinet a short while before going to the chamber to ask immediate parliamentary approval of his ministerial selections and war aims.

While Reynaud addressed the chamber, Vice Premier Camille Chautemps read the same statement to the senate.

Observers pointed out that the new government replaced the Daladier regime because the nation demanded more forceful foreign and war policies. Judging from reports flooding into Paris concerning imminent developments in the Balkans and relations among Germany, Russia and Italy, it is possible that Reynaud may face a stern test in the near future.

New Accord Near?

Today Paris newspapers splashed reports that a Rome-Berlin-Moscow accord is near and that the dictators are planning to divide the Balkans into "zones of influence and exploitation."

The Paris Soir said that Chancellor Hitler, Premier Mussolini and Dictator Josef Stalin will hold a personal meeting near Lvov in former Poland by the end of April at the latest.

Pertinax, famous French commentator, hinted that Italy is about to pass into a new position in relation to the war. To date, Italy has maintained an attitude which Premier Mussolini has described as "non-belligerency."

Reynaud holds the foreign affairs portfolio as well as the premiership while former Premier Edouard Daladier, who resigned Wednesday, took over the post of war minister.

Establishment of the new French government, along with anticipated cabinet changes in Britain, brought predictions of an active war drive by the Anglo-French Allies designed to take the military initiative away from the Reich.

It was considered significant that French newspapers greeted the new cabinet with warnings of a new German-Soviet "menace" against Rumania and Yugoslavia. Two "innovations" announced by Reynaud were formation of an "inter-ministerial economic council" and an inner war cabinet composed of the premier, vice-premier, and ministers of war, navy, air, finance and colonies.

EASTER PARADE FEATURE TO BE COLD WEATHER

COLUMBUS, March 22—Easter paraders will receive little cooperation from the weatherman Sunday.

Present indications point to low temperatures which will make winter overcoats more comfortable than new spring clothes Easter Sunday.

After a slight rise tomorrow, the mercury was expected to decline again Saturday night. The official forecast for Sunday and Monday was "continued cold."

In Central Ohio the low temperatures last night was 22 degrees and it was only slightly warmer at mid-day.

The area from Philadelphia eastward through New England was blanketed by snow with fair and cold weather predicted for Easter. There was a one-inch snowfall in New York.

TWO GO TO JAIL

Earl Hussey, 29, Watt Street, and Clarke Rice, 50, Athens, were remanded to the county jail Friday when they failed to pay the fines of $15 and costs for drunk and disorderly conduct which were handed down by Mayor William Cady. Both men were arrested Thursday night by Patrolmen Carl Radcliff and Charles Mumaw.

In Style for the Easter Parade

THIS hat-glove combination may be seen in the Easter parade of fashion. Designed by John-Frederics, the milliners, the hat is a stylized clown cap of golden yellow tulle, draped with a golden veil, sprinkled with gold and multi-colored felt confetti dots.

ed Taft for the presidency, Ingalls said:

"Membership of the committee demonstrates the solidarity of Ohio Republicans in all branches of the state party behind Taft. Additional members will be added to the committee gradually and eventually membership may run as high as 10,000 throughout the state.

"The committee drive will particularly concern itself in demonstrating to Republicans outside this state that Ohio is solidly behind Senator Taft."

ELMS IN NEED OF PROTECTION IN SOME AREAS

COLUMBUS, March 22—Ohio people who take pride in the appearance of elms and other shade trees or those who have little interest in beauty but a desire to take their ease in the shade need to protect their interests by thwarting the visits of the cankerworm which is due to defoliate unprotected trees in many counties in the state.

The cankerworm is the larva of a moth which can not fly but which can climb trees. The climbing is done to lay eggs so, if the upward journey can be prevented, the tree will be free from the myriad of worms which strip the leaves.

T. H. Parks, extension entomologist, Ohio State University, says the cankerworm may be expected in all of northern and western Ohio except Williams, Wood, Lucas, Henry, Ottawa, Sandusky, and Erie counties. The southern margin of the infested territory is the southern boundaries of Preble, Montgomery, Greene, Madison, Franklin, Knox, Wayne, Stark, and Columbiana counties.

Trees can be protected by applying tree tanglefoot in narrow bands around the trunks. The tanglefoot can be applied with a pad directly to the bark. Moths attempting to climb are trapped and perish. Orchard and seed supply stores usually have the tree tanglefoot for sale.

The cost of protecting a tree is only a few cents and the results may be worth many dollars. Trees stripped by cankerworms are not killed outright but are weakened so drought or disease may complete the ruin started by the insects.

chant ships were sunk in Wednesday's raid on a British convoy. Convoy Claims Differ

A communique said the convoy "consisting almost entirely of neutrals was not dispersed and is proceeding safely on its voyage." Not one of the convoyed ships went down, the statement said, and one of the attacking German planes was "destroyed" and others were hit by British defense planes and anti-aircraft gunners.

In addition to the Alger, four unconvoyed Scandinavian ships were damaged by German air bombs and a fifth was torpedoed by a German submarine, the admiralty stated, adding:

"Nazi wrath this is vented almost entirely on neutrals who, since they are unarmed, are peculiarly tempting to Nazi prowess outside of a convoy."

Altogether 12 merchant ships, including four British and seven Scandinavian, were sunk or damaged Wednesday and Thursday by German bombs or torpedoes. More than 65 lives were estimated lost.

BERLIN, March 22—No less than 32,694 tons of enemy and neutral merchant shipping have been sunk during the last three days, the German high command asserted in a war communique today.

"There were no particular events on the Western Front," the war bulletin said. "Despite adverse weather the German air force reconnoitered the northern part of the North Sea."

"Enemy and neutral merchantmen aggregating 32,694 tons have been sunk during the last three days."

WOMAN OFFERS TO GIVE BLOOD TO HELP YOUTH

CHICAGO, March 22—Mrs. Rose McMullen, of Washington, D. C., was in Chicago today to give her blood in an effort to save Sheldon Bellafsky, 12-year-old victim of a rare disease in whose behalf a national appeal for donors was made.

The boy, meanwhile, has grown weaker. Although his temperature, which at one time reached 109.4, was down to 102.6, his resistance appeared enfeebled, and physicians feared an infection had developed in his lungs.

Mrs. McMullen's offer of blood differed from others, received from all parts of the country, in that she did not claim to have suffered from the same rare disease—staphylococcus aureus septicaemia. She said:

"In 1935 my niece, Rose Marie Ryan, became ill of the disease in Philadelphia. I asked the doctors to inoculate me with a culture of her blood. In this way, I developed an immunity and was able to give my niece 17 transfusions. "Since then, I have given about eight quarts of blood to sufferers from this disease."

A detailed bacteriological analysis was arranged to determine whether her blood might help the boy.

PROPOSALS OF STATE TO HELP RELIEF HEARD

Paul, and it fails to make sense," Short declared.

The 1½ mill levy proposal met with even greater pessimism. "We're a rural county," Wright declared. "Our voters will not pass any additional tax levies."

The expansion of the WPA program, to be brought about by the use of $17,602 in motor vehicle registrations as the county's share of an $89,013 road program, was frowned on as unneeded during the summer months.

During the growing months, the commissioners declared, the need of work is met by a demand for farm labor.

The conference broke up with no action being decided on, although Hartsough said he would prepare a new set of figures for submission to the city and county.

County Relief Director Delos Marcy said that he would try to interest Circleville business leaders and civic clubs in a drive to "put a relief levy over the top." In common with the rest of the delegation, however, he said he could see no chance of passage.

Auditor Short suggested that a decree to have persons on relief surrender their automobile license tags before they could receive orders, declaring that this would cut the relief load considerably. Relief Director Marcy stated that he was opposed to such a move.

Others who attended the meeting were Prosecuting Attorney George Gerhardt and Representative William D. Radcliff, who said he dropped in "to see how things were coming out."

Card of Thanks

We hereby wish to express our thanks and sincere appreciation to all those who in any way helped lighten the sorrows of our recent bereavement in the loss of wife and Mother. Especially do we thank those friends and neighbors who rendered such fine and unselfish service.

SESSION SERIES SET FOR LAND USE DISCUSSION

Recommendations for the township Committees for the use of the land in the different areas of the townships will be made at the Land Use Project meetings scheduled for the coming week. This series of meetings will conclude the Land Use Project and the completed county map plotting the types of land and soil in the county will be available for observation.

All the meetings are scheduled for 8 p. m. and will be held at the township school building unless otherwise indicated. The schedule is as follows: Monday, March 25, Harrison Township, Trustees' Room; Scioto Township Tuesday, March 26; Darby and Deercreek Townships; Wednesday, March 27; Madison and Wayne Townships; Thursday, March 28; Monroe Township; Muhlenberg Township at Frank Beatty's; Friday, March 29; Perry and Pickaway Townships.

Hi School Cage Meet Sets New Mark Of 30,237

Finalists Receive $280 Each In Addition To All Expenses; Amanda Given $140

COLUMBUS, March 22—A new attendance mark of 30,237 and the awarding of bonuses totaling $4,200 to the 32 teams competing in the state high school basketball tournament were announced today by H. R. Townsend, high school athletic commissioner.

The total attendance fell under unofficial estimates but still topped the 30,036 mark set in 1938 when Newark won the Class A crown and attracted thousands of Central Ohioans to the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

BEN HOGAN SETS NEW RECORD TO COP GOLF GOLD

PINEHURST, N. C., March 22—Two new records and his first major championship today were chalked up to the credit of Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y., who yesterday won the North-South Open golf championship with a 72-hole score of 277.

Hogan's score shaved two strokes from the tournament record, 279, set by Vic Ghezzi, and his 66-67-133 for the first 36 holes set a new P.G.A. competitive record. He never before had won a major title.

Although he started the last two rounds with a long lead, Hogan slipped somewhat yesterday to card a 74 and 70. Sam Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., finished second with a total of 280.

Byron Nelson, National Open champion, was third with 286; Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill., was fourth with 287, and Gene Sarazen and Jug McSpaden tied for fifth with 288's. Hogan was awarded $1,000 first prize money and, due to his sensational first two rounds, attracted a gallery of 3,000 yesterday. Snead pocketed $600 in prize money.

KNUTSEN OVER TALABER

COLUMBUS, March 22—The light-heavyweight wrestling crown of Gil Knutsen settled more firmly on his brow today with his unquestioned pin of Chicago's Frankie Talaber, who fell before the Canadian's reverse body slam. It was Knutsen's second win over Talaber, who claimed last week that he was fouled when the champion took the nod.

Fastest Relay Mile In History May Be Scored

NEW YORK, March 22—The fastest relay mile ever run on a standard-sized indoor track was in the making today as Dan (AAU) Ferris selected the western quartet which will meet a picked four from the East at the Finnish relief track meet in Madison Square Garden March 31.

The fastest mile ever run on the 11-lap Garden track was a sensational 3:19 made several years ago but Ferris is confident this time can be beaten, and to break this record he intends to start eight men each capable of running the quarter in 48 seconds!

Only a few years ago he couldn't have found half a dozen 48-second men in the whole world but now he promises to show in one race eight Americans who can turn the trick.

"And that," Dan adds, "is a fine commentary on the development of speed in this country and a sure indication of what our boys would have done if the Olympics were held this year."

The big four from the West for this race are Roy Cochran of Indiana, Warren Breidenbach of Michigan, Jack Sulzmann of Ohio State and Frank Ohl of Pittsburgh.

Cochran is the Big Ten quarter mile champion. Breidenbach was clocked in 47.6 last spring and Sulzmann was runner up to him outdoors in 47.6. Ohl has run a furlong in 21.2 and Ferris thinks he is a sure bet to run a quarter in 48 or better.

Ferris hasn't definitely decided on his eastern quartet but it is not stretching the imagination to suppose that Jim Herbert of N.Y.U., Dick Gill and Douglas Raymond of Boston and Charley Belcher of Georgia Tech are the most probable starters.

Herbert, of course, is the world record holder for 600 yards and he can run the quarter in 47 flat. Belcher has done 47.3 and the other two around 48.

JIM JOHNSTON TO SIGN MEN FOR BOXING MATCHES

Johnston may take the first batch of Americans to Venezuela next month.

QUEEN MARY AT SEA ON SECRET BRITISH JOURNEY

NEW YORK, March 22—The big 81,000 ton liner Queen Mary, once empress of the British merchant marine, was speeding a zig-zag course at her full 28 knots somewhere at sea today bound on a secret war mission.

It was believed the $25,000,000 liner would soon overtake its smaller sister ship, the Mauretania, which departed New York harbor 12 hours earlier, and that together they will serve as troop ships.

When last observed before disappearing into the ocean mists off Long Branch, N. J., yesterday morning, the Queen Mary appeared to be headed southward on the regular Bermuda run. Popular belief was that either or both ships will transport Australian troops to the Near East where the Allies are congregating a vast military force.

VOICE...of the...PEOPLE

Circleville, Ohio, March 22, 1940.

Editor, The Herald:

As I write I am aware of the fact that I am, to use the common vernacular, "sticking my neck out", but I request only that you give my written thoughts what you will deem a fair amount of consideration, and dispose of them accordingly.

In order not to waste words—How many farmers in Pickaway County who are characterized by any degree of common sense and foresight would buy an inferior type of machinery simply because it is cheaper? How many intelligent citizens of Circleville who can afford the more expensive automobiles prefer to buy cheaper, lighter ones of less substantial material, which inevitably require more in the way of repairs?

What conscientious parent in Circleville desires that his child receive a cheaper, inferior education, when, by coordination of purpose toward mutual benefit, he and his fellow citizens can become very effective instruments in securing an improved and modernized type of learning for their progeny—one that, by reason of methods and materials used, is abreast of the times, fulfilling the extremely exacting requirements with which today's graduates are confronted?

Those citizens of Circleville who have consistently contributed to various and sundry funds destined to support musical and athletic programs in the local school system are to be congratulated and their efforts appreciated. But is it exorbitant to request that they sharpen their vision to the extent of peering behind the scenes for a closer scrutiny of that fundamental and all-important phase of the local educational institution which although it is the true purpose of a school, is not so frequently exhibited before the public eye—namely, the processes of learning and instructing?

Service is the keynote of modern life—or is held to be; service industrial, educational and social. Any good business man knows that the volume of his business is directly proportionate to the amount and quality of service rendered. He also realizes that the term service connotes efficiency plus mutual satisfaction between the parties involved in the transaction.

Altruistic though we may be, or profess to be, what man is there among us who will strive with the utmost of his energies for no matter what cause if he knows within his heart that the compensation,

This is the twentieth century! Every man or woman knows that when he buys a suit of clothing, a dress, a car, an electric iron, an insurance policy, or what have you, he receives exactly what he pays for—no more, no less—in quality and service rendered. In this day and age specialized training, though costly, is necessary. Physicians, lawyers, scientists, journalists, clergymen—all today are men of highly specialized training most of whom are proud of their professions and most of whom receive due esteem and remuneration from those whom they serve. Is there any good reason why educators should be exempted from this classification?—those upon whose shoulders rests the very future of the world, in that they are responsible for the formation of the character and social attitude of the oncoming generations?

OPEN LETTERS

TO CITIZENS

FOLK: The following editorial concerning the Easter observance is one of the finest that I have been permitted to read in a long, long while. It is being passed on to you:

Easter, the great festival of Christianity, derives its name from the ancient Saxon goddess of spring. Many of its customs are similar to rites with which the pagans welcomed spring long before the Christian era. The egg, symbol of life and resurrection in antiquity, naturally became an Easter symbol among Christians. It is said that the early church fathers wisely incorporated in the religious observance of Easter such of the pagan customs as they could not root out.

Thus the new clothes, the profusion of flowers, the church-going, the Easter eggs on the family table and the candy eggs hidden for the children to hunt, all represent a great uplifting of the human spirit in rejoicing and hope, which was felt by past generations as it is by us.

There are peoples in the world today for whom even Easter can have only sorrowful notice. Americans should be deeply thankful for their happier situation.

TO POLICE

AUTHORITIES: You should be congratulated for carrying on the campaign that you have started to halt juveniles who are breaking various laws. You have been using tact and, generally, your tactics have been excellent. Circleville is being plagued by a series of minor violations that certainly should be broken up and on your shoulders rests much of the responsibility for halting the crimes and teaching the youthful perpetrators proper conduct.

CIRCUITEER.

TO MOTORISTS

DRIVERS: Here, friends, is just a reminder that two new traffic ordinances are effective Friday, and they should be observed to the letter because citations into Mayor W. B. Cady's court are promised for persons who do not abide by their provisions. Passed by council a month ago, they are now law, and they will be enforced. None of you should park on the wrong side of the street and neither should you exceed speed limitations on the city's thoroughfares. Violation of either of these statutes may mean a trip before Mr. Cady and, cooperating with council and the traffic division of the safety department, it is highly possible that the Mayor may charge the penalty where it hurts most, in the pocketbook. Cars must be parked on the side to the driver's right; the driver must never cut across the street to park on his left. That violation has been a prevalent one for a long while. Motorists are not permitted to drive faster than 35 miles an hour anywhere in the city, and in the business district and closely populated centers the limit is 20 miles an hour. This speeding law is another that will be enforced, and strictly. All motorists should abide by these statutes because they are designed to provide each better protection.

CIRCUITEER.

TO CITIZENS

ALL: The Rotary Club deserves support for its annual Easter Seal Sale, conducted to help crippled children of the community. A committee from the club has been active for several years in this work, and the community as a whole has benefitted from its efforts. Those gay little seals with the yellow of spring sunshine, the lavender of spring violets and the smiling children, are called Easter Seals. The funds raised by their sale are used for the benefit of crippled persons in the United States, especially crippled children. The Easter Seals, like the Christmas Seals, should be put on the backs of letters, or even inside, to attract the attention of other persons and arouse wider interest in the work. There should be fewer crippled children and adults in this country in future years. Surgeons know more about the treatment of various crippling diseases. They know how to correct slight defects which used to be allowed to grow worse and become permanent. And safety workers are pushing the campaign to prevent accidents which result in crippled limbs.

CIRCUITEER.

TO RELIEF ADMINISTRATION

SIRS: Grocers who have been abiding by state welfare department statutes, and numerous individuals are congratulating you for penalizing two Circleville stores that have been issuing tobacco with relief orders. The penalties should be severe enough that the stores will never again wish to break the law. Relief is being dispensed to relieve persons who do not have enough to eat, and tobacco does not come under this classification. I hope that you continue to check on these violators and that any and all others who do not dispense relief according to the law be cut off the lists permitted to receive orders.

CIRCUITEER.

TO RURAL FOLK

FRIENDS: All of you in the nine townships cooperating in the purchase of a new fire truck for rural runs have been informed concerning the arrival of the new device and each has been informed concerning just what to do in case of a blaze. Persons who will help fight fires that break out in their districts are reminded to be certain to fill two milk cans with water and to take them to the scene of the flames. This water is very important because in many locations water to supply the pumper is not available. I hope that there are no serious fires in our county, but in case they do break out I hope that 100 percent cooperation will be provided for the fire fighters.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON is sorry for Norway in the jam it's in over the Altmak case. It by no means is sorry enough, however, to show any enthusiasm over the Norse suggestion that President Roosevelt arbitrate between the little Scandinavian kingdom and the British, on one hand, and the Germans on the other. Nobody questions that F. D. is more than eager to serve as a peacemaker in any promising situation, but this evidently isn't one.

The consensus in our own capital is that the Norwegian authorities bungled the Altmak matter, too. It's agreed that the German ship was entitled to seek refuge in Joessing fjord and that Norway with within its rights, under international law, to shelter it, on the assumption that it was a peaceful merchantman, as Berlin contends—not a fighting vessel.

ALTMARK ARMED

It appears, however, that the craft carried a couple of guns. To be sure, this wasn't a sufficient armament to enable the boat to put up much of a battle. Nevertheless, to quote international law again, as soon as an erstwhile merchantman mounts any cannon at all it classes technically as a scrapper, and all our international experts take the view that the Norse shouldn't have tolerated its presence for any length of time in their territorial waters without interning it for the duration of the war.

Moreover, Washington reasons that the Norwegian profession of ignorance that the Altmak had any prisoners on board sounds pretty thin. It's pointed out that 300 prisoners would be maddening hard for any boat to hide, if searched very diligently.

BRITAIN SOMEWHAT CRITICIZED

True, we have critics who say that Britain considerably overstrained international law in sending the destroyer Cossack into the fjord, regardless of Norway's neutrality, to take the prisoners out the Altmak, after a melee in which several Germans were killed, so close to the Norse shore that houses on the Joessing waterfront were punctured by British shots.

Still, even these critics admit that it was almost too much for human endurance to expect the Cossack's commander to accept the story that the German vessel had no prisoners under hatches and intolerable conditions, when he knew to a certainty that the prisoners were there. Not that a good many allowances aren't made for the Norse. It's recognized that they're on a desperately hot spot, as between the Germans and the British, and its conceded that they naturally are more urgently afraid of the Germans than of the British—which would account for their oversight of those 300 prisoners in the Altmak's hold, though mighty few commentators believe they were as unaware of it as they pretend.

PRO-ALLY SENTIMENT

The fact is that, American public opinion unquestionably being overwhelmingly pro-Ally, our internationalists incline to give the benefit of every doubt to the British.

At all events, the Joessing fjord incident is one that our diplomacy decidedly doesn't care to arbitrate. At best, it would be a difficult job. At worst, if we undertook it, we might have to decide that the British gave international law a worse kick in the pants than the Germans or the Norse, either one. And we wouldn't want to do that. It would be a thankless stunt. It wouldn't make for peace and it surely would get us disliked. Let the League of Nations attend to it, as some of the Norwegians have proposed. The league wouldn't have a bit of attention paid to it, for that matter.

DIET AND HEALTH

Constipation—True and False

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

CONSTIPATION has been variously defined as the "occupational hazard of chess players;" as (by Dr. J. J. Montague) "our common ailment;" as "the curse of civilization;" as "the brunette's albatross," and as a "signment of the imagination."

As to the last, I believe it is certainly true that those who worry about constipation at all, worry about it too much. An example comes from a correspondent of our family, who quite regularly keeps us informed about the progress of her husband's chronic complaints.

"I think what the matter with Bert is that he is all dried up. He has taken salts every morning for so many years that he is all dehydrated and this makes him feel poisoned so he takes a Turkish bath every day or two, so now he is all wrinkled like a prune. I said to him, 'Why don't you go out on a spree and enjoy yourself for once?' but he says, no, he is all poisoned inside from his lifelong constipation. The doctor says his colon has not got a wriggle left in it; it is just worn out from all the salts he has taken and it must have a period of rest, but Bert misses his salts."

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

This letter indicates to me a whole volume of information about constipation.

True and False

There are at least two kinds of constipation—true and false. False constipation is greatly in the majority. The principal cause of it is well indicated in this letter—the habitual use of cathartics of any kind.

Cathartics simply irritate the inside of the bowel and make the constipated feel that there is foreign matter present there and that it ought to be gotten rid of by more cathartics. He, therefore, takes more cathartics and then feels more uneasy. It is a true vicious circle. One of the most surprising things in the world is to see how promptly one of these cases becomes entirely normal if he can just be persuaded to leave off his cathartics for a while.

The symptoms of false constipation are well illustrated in this letter because the only symptoms are what the patient thinks of the condition. These people are likely to be morose. They think they are morose because they are constipated. The fact is, they are constipated because they are morose.

1. What king of England was known as "The Peacemaker"?
2. Who wrote the words to the poem and song, "Tho' I Was Hanged on the Highest Hill, Mother o' Mine"?
3. When was the capital of the United States moved from Washington?

Words of Wisdom

A careless song, with a little nonsense in it now and then, does not misbecome a monarch.—Horace Walpole.

Hints on Etiquette

When you light another person's cigarette for them, hold the match for a moment after lighting it, to allow the sulphur fumes to pass off.

Today's Horoscope

If your birthday is today you may expect a good year ahead of you. You will gain through an elder, and also through the use of novel methods in your business. The child born today will be practical, methodical, discriminating, clever, original and also sympathetic and kind-hearted, although somewhat reserved.

They start out life with a constipated habit of mind.

Are Dried Out

Then they try to get the poisons out of their system by taking Turkish baths and sweating them out. The wife in this case is a very shrewd observer, and she is perfectly right. These people get dried out internally and externally.

The treatment of false constipation is largely to remove the cause—i.e., habitual use of cathartics, and to change the patient's psychology—i.e., persuade him that he is just as normal as true people.

The treatment of true constipation consists in: (1) the use of diet, (2) exercise, (3) rectal surgery, (4) psychotherapy, and (5), very occasionally, drugs.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mrs. C. E. B.: "What is the difference between warts and moles?"

Answer—Both are elevations of the skin. Warts are new growths—benign tumors. Moles are more like an hypertrophy of the skin. Moles are congenital, pigmented and rich in blood vessels. Warts appear at any time in life—not congenital. All moles should be removed—they are potentially dangerous, some more so than others—by surgical removal or electric desiccation. Warts are removed by application of astringents or the use of the x-ray.

D. M. S.: "I am a practical nurse and wish you would answer through your column or give a treatment for itching skin in the elderly."

Answer—Itching skin in the elderly is practically always due to too much soap and water. The skin is atrophic and does not have the natural oil. Rubbing the skin night and morning, and especially before bathing, with toilet lanolin is recommended.

M. E. F.: "What would the symptoms of low blood pressure and anemia be? My blood count is low. Can it be built up?"

Answer: The symptoms of low blood pressure and anemia are weakness, fatigue and shortness of breath. The blood can be built up by iron, liver extract or transfusion.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. THE KILLER SPEAKS

READ THIS FIRST:

I, Bill Strickland, am suspected in the murder of my friend, Alfred Markham, rich young jeweler, at a party in the Rio Vista clubhouse garden. I am kidnapped by a man who attacks me in the dark garden an hour later, but I escape from him and the next morning in a rowboat and am picked up by a newspaper reporter and Louise Markham, in a motor boat. Miss Markham, convinced I am innocent, takes me to her home, where a doctor says all I need is rest.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

I SPENT the rest of that day on the couch in the Markham library. I suspected that the reporter had not notified the police, and had no intention of doing so until after his paper went to press the next morning, but I remembered that he had saved my life. I believed his deception was doing no great harm, and decided that I would not spoil his story for him.

Also, I enjoyed having such a beautiful nurse. She did not smile again, though I did my best to distract her attention.

"You are very brave," I told her. "Most girls would be in tears."

"I did cry," she admitted, "last night. Alfred was always a wonderful brother to me. But I have been away at school for years; perhaps that is why his death has not prostrated me. And there is George, my other brother, to give me strength."

"Nevertheless, you are very brave," I repeated. "I had no idea who you were until the doctor spoke your name, and I would never have suspected."

"Silly of me, wasn't it, to be out in a boat? That reporter came to the house and said he wanted to search the river. I let him borrow our boat, and I went along. I simply had to do something!"

"I wonder what he expected to find?"

"He said he was sure the murderer had come and gone in a boat, and that you had been taken away in a boat. There is a police boat down river, so he was fairly certain no one would try to go that way. We went down only as far as the club, then circled back upstream, looking for strange boats. We didn't get far. I believe he has gone back to continue his hunt this afternoon."

"He's not so dumb at that," I observed.

"He certainly acts as though he would cut off his right arm to get a story. I never saw him until today. He had my life history in fifteen minutes."

"He's very self-centered. He never did introduce us."

"Oh, I knew who you were as soon as we pulled you into the boat and he said you were the man who had disappeared from the club."

Alfred often spoke of you. You and he were great friends, weren't you? This must be a blow to you, too."

I swallowed. "It is."

She went to the kitchen to brew me a cup of tea. After a time she returned. "I'll read you a story," she said. "Perhaps it will take both our minds off our troubles."

The afternoon wore on. I wondered who else was in the house. I heard no sound of any other occupants. Reporters from the afternoon and evening papers came to speak to her. She met them at the door, and they had no reason to suspect my presence.

Toward evening I sat up. I felt much better—almost normal, in fact. When Belzer burst in and saw me, however, he set up a howl. "Put that bandage back on your head," he demanded. "You're a sick man, and the photographer is here to prove it."

The photographer came in, loaded down with his big camera and flash bulbs again. He set up his tripod. Belzer posed me.

"I hope you realize I would never do this if I didn't feel indebted," I said, "I directed me how to grimace as I tuck in pain. They took six flash pictures."

"I've got the story typed," the reporter announced. "All we have to do is wait four more hours and it's ours, exclusive. We'll rush these pictures down and get 'em printed. I found your boat. We shot closeups, showing the bullet holes." He grinned. "Boy, what a yarn!"

After he had gone the doorbell rang again. I heard Miss Markham greeting "George" in the entry, and knew her brother had returned. He went directly upstairs. She came into the library with a finger over her lips. She was carrying a pair of shoes for me to wear.

"I do feel indebted to that reporter, despite his bad manners," she whispered. "I'll keep George out of here for a while. He is very impulsive, and would insist that you go right to the other 'pers with your story."

I nodded as she withdrew and closed the door. I put on the shoes. There were sounds in the kitchen now, informing me that the cook, at least, had returned.

George, coming down the stairs, started to open the library door, but his sister called him to dinner. A short time later, apparently while he still was eating, she brought me my dinner on a tray.

"George is in a terrible temper tonight," she whispered. "The police have discovered nothing today. I believe our reporter accomplished more than all of them put together."

I finished my dinner. No one called for the tray. I lay there listening to George and his sister talking, which did not embarrass me, because I could not tell what they were saying. George sounded petulant. His sister's voice was low, musical.

I opened the window beside my couch and stood up to enjoy the fresh air. I stretched my arms. My joints and muscles ached, but otherwise I seemed returning to normal. The dizziness had left my head.

Something came "ting" through the window. Before I could duck it struck me full in the face and dropped to the floor. I stooped and picked up a wad of paper that had been wrapped around a small stone to give it weight.

On the library table I spread it out and read:

"You haven't got away from me. I'm waiting for you. If you go to the police you won't live to be sorry about it. A rifle makes too much noise down town, but there are other ways!"

The note was unsigned. It was written on several sheets of paper torn from a cheap notebook. I snapped off the light and looked out the window. There was no one in sight. The man who threw the note would not have had time to run to the end of the block. He must be hiding outside.

There was a telephone on the library table. I picked it up to call the police station, then changed my mind. As I set it back on its hook the room lights flashed on.

George Markham was standing in the doorway, his sister beside him restraining him with one slim hand.

"It's all right, George," she said. "You know Bill Strickland, Alfred's friend. He's hurt. This was the best place he could stay."

"The best place . . . Louise, are you out of your mind? The police think this is the man who—who—"

"That's silly, George." George Markham was not a bad looking sort. He was tall, well built, well dressed. I saw the resemblance to Alfred. I also saw that I was putting a in an embarrassing situation.

"I feel much better," I told him. "There is no need for me to stay here longer. I understand how you feel about it. I'll go."

"Where?" Louise asked.

"To the police station. It's time they heard my story."

"I'm going with you!" declared the girl.

"Suppose we all go!" George suggested.

Early Homes Discussed For Ashville Garden Club

Nelle Oesterle On Program At Trego Home

Miss Nelle Oesterle of Walnut Township interested the members of the Ashville Garden Club with her talk on "Early Homes of Central Ohio" at the meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Marie Trego of Ashville. Twenty-two members and guests heard Miss Oesterle's informal address, the subject concerning a hobby which she has followed for the last 15 years.

She had visited many of the historical homes discussed and told the interesting details of their doorways and mantels. She traced the architecture of the north or the south as the influence of the early colonial settlers was revealed in the different types of homes.

Interesting to the group was her detailed description of "Adena," near Chillicothe, the home of Governor Worthington, and that of the authentically restored home of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Young just south of Circleville.

She displayed many interesting photographs of the early homes and also pictures of unique doorways and interiors. Mrs. Roger Hedges, president, conducted the brief business hour and announced that the next session, April 17, would be in her home near Ashville. For this meeting, Miss Eleanor Ryan of South Court Street will discuss her summer trip to the British Isles.

The park project of the club was discussed, especially the plans for the shrubbery planting.

Mrs. Orville Vause and Mrs. L. C. Schiff presided at the table. Mrs. David Dunnick, Mrs. Clara Creager and Mrs. William Fischer, Jr., assisted Mrs. Trego in serving.

Scioto Grange

Forty-five members and juveniles attended the Wednesday session of Scioto Grange held in Scioto School. Dwight Bethards, worthy master, led the ritualistic grange opening.

After group singing, the first program was a reading, "A Package of Seeds" by Pearlina Wilkins; solo, "Beautiful Heaven"; Mrs. C. M. Beatty; a discussion by four members, Mrs. Nyla Davis, Miss Mabel Thompson, C. M. Beatty and S. E. Beers, using the subject, "Which Contributes Most to the Success of the Farm, the Farm or the Farmer"; "Southern Memories" and "Old Black Joe," two vocal duets by Lyle Wilkins and Dan Neal, with Mrs. George Finch playing the piano accompaniments.

After a closing song by the group, refreshments were served by Mrs. Frank Hudson, Mrs. Lloyd Melvin and Miss Alma Hudson.

Anniversary Observed

The eighteenth anniversary of the Three T Club of New Holland was observed with a luncheon Thursday at 1 p. m. at the Town House, Chillicothe. Twelve of the 16 members were present.

A "horn of plenty" centered the table where the guests were served the delightful three course luncheon, greetings of the season on Easter dillies scattered on the tables adding to the attractiveness of the setting. An interesting feature was the large birthday cake decorated in Easter colors, bearing 18 burning candles, and displayed in an Easter nest.

The club has seven who have been members during its entire life, six being at the anniversary meeting. These were Mrs. Cranston McQuay, who is president; Mrs. Russell Ebert, Mrs. Roy Griffith, Mrs. Floyd James of New Holland; Mrs. Almer Junk of Xenia and Mrs. Homer Wright of Saltcreek Township. Other members served were Mrs. Leslie Tarbill, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Marvin Hosler, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Dudley Briggs, Mrs. Roy Stewart, New Holland and Mrs. Homer Leaverton, Chillicothe.

Auction bridge was played during the afternoon, the prizes going to Mrs. Ebert for high score, Mrs. Leaverton for low, Mrs. Hosler receiving the traveling award.

Mrs. Roy Stewart will entertain the club in April.

Transplanting Choice Shrubs

When overcrowding of shrubs in a garden or foundation planting forces one to consider transplanting them, they should not be dug up with bare roots if they are choice plants which one would not want to run the risk of losing.

In moving choice or valuable shrubs, they should be dug with a ball of earth about their roots, and this ball, in turn, burlapped, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph, so the transplanting can be done without danger of breaking the ball and disturbing the roots. Before digging shrubs for transplanting, draw in the spreading branches compactly by tying them about with twine or tape.

A damp, cloudy day, or late in the afternoon, is the best time for transplanting.

THOMAS MITCHELL TO STAR

Thomas Mitchell, screen father of Scarlett O'Hara and the Swiss Family Robinsons, will play the title role in Cavalcade of America's dramatization of "The Story of John Fitch", to be broadcast Tuesday evening, March 26. His part on the Cavalcade drama as Mr. Mitchell's first appearance on the air since he received a Motion Picture Academy award February 29 for his performance in "Stagecoach".

John Fitch invented the first American steamboat twenty years before Robert Fulton's "Clermont" puffed laboriously up the Hudson. He built two steam packets and although both were unsuccessful because of minor technicalities in their construction, his engineering principle was entirely sound. In addition to lack of finances, the very temper of the times conspired to keep Fitch impoverished and a failure.

A Letter To Milk Consumers

Dear Citizens:

We wish to announce that our milk plant is going under federal and state milk inspection. In preparation for this we have bought two new pasteurizers built with stainless steel and glass lined which are considered the latest and most efficient type. We will also install recording thermometers, new dial scales, stainless steel receiving and weighing tanks, a stainless steel cheese vat. Many other modern changes will be made within two or three weeks.

Inspection of cows and barns of those who produce our milk will be made at least once per month. Bacterial and sediment tests of the milk from each farm will be made regularly as well as of our finished pasteurized products.

We sell milk in Pickaway, Fairfield, Hocking and Ross Counties. Owing to the fact that Pickaway County has no health unit to take care of such inspection, the Ross County unit will care for our milk plant.

For two years our record has been very good, but with our new equipment and our triple bottle wash we hope to still improve our record.

No person in Circleville from now on need have any fear about milk. We will be the only plant that will have 100% rigid inspection.

Yours,

The Circle City Dairy

BANDIT'S VISIT TO HOME STUNS AGED RESIDENT

COLUMBUS, March 22 — The excitement of a burglar's visit today was given as the cause of a cerebral hemorrhage suffered by 82-year-old A. G. Mulligan, formerly of New Lexington, who was reported in critical condition.

The retired molder suffered a stroke when a burglar attempted to batter down the door of his home, directly across the street from the home of Mrs. Alice Lauterbaugh, 75-year-old spinster who was the victim of a brutal attack-murderer only a short time ago. Police were attempting to connect the two criminal visitations.

Eight Policemen Take Part In Drive; Statement Of January 1 Recalled

WASHINGTON C. H., March 22 —Following confiscation of 23 slot machines in raids on the Elks, Eagles and Moose lodge rooms, City Manager Edwin Ducey repeated the statement he made when he took office on January 1, that all the laws are to be enforced without favoritism.

A squad of eight policemen led by Police Chief Jack Wolfe removed six slot machines from the Elks lodge room, eight from the Moose lodge room and nine from the Eagles meeting place. All the machines were in operation when the police made the raids at 6 p. m. Thursday, the city manager said.

Armed with search warrants when he entered the lodge rooms, the police chief reported that he had met with no resistance in any of the places raided. The machines were taken to police headquarters. Destruction of the machines will take place after the proper legal steps have been completed.

CITY ATTORNEY BLOCKS BALLOT AT UTILITY COST.

COLUMBUS, March 22—The plan for submitting the 15-year-old Columbus gas rate fight to the voters at a special election was apparently blocked today by a ruling of City Attorney John L. Davies, who held that council was without power to take such a step.

Davies' ruling, made at a special session of the council considering the gas rate case, was followed by a bitter verbal altercation between Council President Roger N. Addison and Prof. Robert M. Hunter of the Ohio State University public utility law department, who criticized council for considering a compromise settlement.

The meeting broke up in disorder without a decision being reached. Another meeting was set tentatively for sometime next week.

by another roomer at the house, attributed the stroke to excitement brought about by the would-be intruder's visit.

Schedule Of Fines Set Up By Statute Recently Voted By Council

20 Miles An Hour Limit Established For Uptown, Closely-Built Areas

Two traffic ordinances recently passed by city Council become effective at midnight Friday. Violation of the ordinances from Saturday morning onward will be cited as misdemeanors and punishable by fines after a hearing in Mayor William Cady's court.

The first ordinance aims to eliminate the parking of vehicles on the wrong side of the street. It becomes unlawful for a vehicle to stop on any road, highway or street within the corporate limits of the city facing in any other direction other than the direction of travel.

Drivers of cars parked along streets with the front end of the cars pointed against the flow of traffic will be fined not more than $25 for the first offense. Any person cited for a second offense of the regulation will be fined not more than $100 nor less than $25.

The second ordinance establishes new speed regulations within the city limits. Speed in the business district of the city is not to exceed 20 miles per hour. This rate of speed is applicable to sections of the city that are closely built up and where the traffic is unusually heavy. A rate of 35 miles per hour is permitted in all other portions of the corporation limits of the city.

Heavy fines will result from the violation of the speed ordinance. The first offense is punishable by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100. Citation for a second offense will result in a driver facing a fine of not less than $25 and not more than $100. Fines for a third offense are to be not less than $50 nor more than $200.

City police warned that these ordinances will be strictly enforced.

12-MINUTE START GIVES FRAUD SUSPECT LIBERTY

Sheriff's Deputies Earl Weaver and Robert Armstrong missed an arrest because a suspected criminal had a 12-minute start. The deputies made a dash up Route 23 to South Bloomfield Thursday afternoon after they had learned that a suspect wanted for fraud was there.

The suspect perhaps knew that the deputies were on their way for he slipped into a new automobile and crossed the Franklin County line ahead of the deputies and disappeared.

The name of the suspect and the particular crime for which he is wanted were not disclosed by the sheriff's office.

LANCASTER MAN NEW MANAGER OF STIFFLER STORE

Fred Rauch, Lancaster, who has been associated with the Charles P. Wiseman Company for 34 years, 23 of which were spent as a member of the firm, has been named the new manager of the Circleville branch of the Stiffler's Stores.

Through his many years with the Lancaster firm, Mr. Rauch knows the business of merchandising thoroughly. He plans to stock the store with the latest types of fabrics and ready to wear garments.

Mr. Rauch has a son and a daughter both attending Ohio State University in Columbus.

THREE PERSONS NOW IN DEATH ROW AT PRISON

COLUMBUS, March 22—Three persons were in Ohio Penitentiary's "death row" today following the arrival of Angelo Porello, 53-year-old Cleveland bootlegger, who was sentenced to die for the fatal shooting of a former partner, Joseph Smeraldi, during an argument over money. He will be executed July 26.

At the same time, M. F. Kilbane, Cuyahoga County's chief jailer, brought to the prison John L. McCormick, 21-year-old former University of Pittsburgh student, who is to serve a life sentence. McCormick was found guilty of the first-degree murder of a Special Policeman during the robbery of a telegraph agency, but the jury recommended mercy.

Others in death row were Eugene Harris, Dayton Negro, to die April 31, and Monroe Bohannon, 33, Cincinnati, who will be electrocuted May 31.

There is a reason why Fleet-Wing products are used by more Pickaway County farmers than any other brand. And that reason is that Fleet-Wing fuels have, over a long period of time, consistently given our local farmers 100% satisfactory results wherever used.

And that's what you farmers want... reliable fuels that will do a job for you day in and day out—every day in the year. We know what Fleet-Wing is doing for the MAJORITY of the farmers of the county and we feel sure that they will do a better job for you.

If you are one of the few farmers not using Fleet-Wing fuels, drop into our office in Circleville and let us tell you why more farmers are using them and exactly what they can do for you. Come in before Spring work gets too heavy—we'll be glad to see you and talk with you.

Hundreds of Pickaway-Co. Farmers Use These Fleet-Wing Products:—
